The music Monday evening will be furnished by the Batavia Concert band and moving pictures of the army and navy will be shown. The Boy Scouts who are also to receive suits through the efforts of the Military Aid Association in public exercises are as follows:

NO POLITICAL GENERAL. In an emergency requiring a call for volunteers congress will be short-sighted indeed if it does not at the same time eliminate the political general. Something has been done in this direction in the new army bill, which provides that all officers of the national guard shall be men who have had practical or theoretical training in military science.

Even more important than this is a similar rule covering the entire volunteer organization in time of war. The curse of the union armies in 1861-1865. Their worthlessness was not the most serious indictment against them. They were always in the way of better men, and to get rid of them it often became necessary to give them undeserved promotions and leave them of command. There are enough trained soldiers in the United States to officer a great army in all the higher grades. In case of war, these men should not be set aside for politicians, who usually demand and receive a rank to which they have no claim. There may be good reason for the appointment of civilians to high rank for staff service, but the responsible commands should go to the trained and experienced officers of the regular army. —New York World.

Orville Peckham has donated a knitting machine to the women working in the interest of the American Red Cross association. Mrs. Faust-Jerry, head of the work here, says that the soldiers are allowed socks but that they are of very cheap material and that the socks the women are now making are much more durable. The women are now busily engaged in this work and the merchants of this city have been giving materials to be used in the work.

At first the women worked at home at spare time on the socks and during the day with the machines of the Red Cross rolled bandages and filled the "kits." Now it will be possible to do considerable more in a day as this stocking knitter works much more rapidly. Mr. Peckham is leaving for Indianapolis, Ind., for the purpose of a baby girl born at their home. As he has been much interested in the work the women are now doing a little farewell surprise on them with this gift. It is to be used in the court room on Tuesdays and Fridays.

Social and Personal. Mrs. James C. Long entertained a number of friends at her home this afternoon. The women passed a delightful hour with music furnished by Mrs. H. D. Warner. Later the hostess served a 5 o'clock tea.

VERY POOR. An old farmer, driving near a golf course, stopped to watch the game. "What's that?" he demanded curiously.

"Golf," was the reply. "Want to try your hand?"

"Don't mind if I do," declared the farmer, climbing down. The players gave him a few points and finally one pointed to a flag on a hill 250 yards away. "At the foot of that pole," said, "is a little hole. The object is to put this ball in the hole with the smallest number of strokes."

The farmer took the club, sighted for some time, and then let go a whole of a stroke. The ball soared with a mighty swish. It fell short, bounced, rolled and wound up a hair's breadth from the objective—a phenomenal shot that made the experienced players gasp. "By George, I missed it!" the farmer exclaimed. "Everybody's Magazine."

Absorption Sale Stocks Arranged for Even Greater Selling

Now for a Spirited Disposal of All Juvenile Footwear

High and Low Shoes for the Boy and Youth, Miss, Child and Wee Infant

(By JOE REISING)

At the beginning of this monster Absorption and Unloading Sale, the enormity of Walk-Over stock and lack of shelf room in this store prompted us to leave the juvenile stocks behind, until such a time as we had disposed of enough other goods to make room for the proper merchandising of this line. So it was that the moving of goods and the resultant upheaval of hundreds of boxes filled with shoes actually forced us to inform hundreds of patrons that we were then not in a position to retail from this division. I'll admit that a condition of this kind is not the best advertisement for any store—where you have to fairly "drive trade away"—but it was a condition quite unavoidable, and for which we solicited the forbearance of customers, with a promise to make known our readiness just as soon as men could arrange the goods and space permit of its proper classification for selling.

Today I am more than pleased to announce that stocks are in spick and span shape, arranged so that all sales people may easily find the various models and wanted sizes and to simplify prompt selection and satisfactory service.

The Subway, the department that holds the major portion of these shoes for young and little folks, is especially prepared to serve great crowds, while the first floor, too, is in position to meet every demand in those qualities slightly higher priced.

Shoes Made Up Expressly for Walk-Over Shop Underpriced and On Sale at Absorption Figures

This stock comprises the finest shoes that have ever come to my attention. Shoes made up from those good old reliable hides that went into shoes two years ago. You know the standard maintained by Walk-Over manufacturers, these many years, so it is well you can appreciate that these shoes which we now offer at prices far below present cost of making, represent a distinct worth of quality in leather, workmanship and wearable value.

NOTE.—In going over the stocks and rearranging lots in the Subway, we found many lines of men's and women's shoes that we were loath to believe had been sold out several weeks ago. Therefore, those who have visited this store and were unable to find their style or size may now secure just the Shoe, Oxford or Slipper to their liking.

SENATE VOTES THE NATION DRY

FATE UNCERTAIN
IN LOWER HOUSE

Measure Would Forbid Making or Use of Liquors During Period of German War.

VOTE IS 38 TO 32 ON BILL

(The International News Service.)

Washington, May 12.—Prohibition won its first important victory in the senate tonight. By a vote of 38 to 32, the senate tonight accepted the Cummins amendment to the espionage bill making it illegal for any one to engage in the liquor business in any form during the war.

A long step towards making the nation dry through the war period was taken by the senate this evening. The Cummins amendment, prohibiting the use of grains, cereals, syrup, in the manufacture of alcoholic beverages was adopted.

Uncertainty Felt in House.
The amendment was accepted after an all-nighter fight to modify it. Before it became a law, however, the concurrence of the house will be necessary. There was nothing tonight to indicate the sentiment of the lower branch on the question. The text of the resolution follows:

"That on and after Sept. 1, 1917, and during the period of the war with the imperial government of Germany, it shall be unlawful to use or employ, directly or indirectly, any cereals, grain, sugar or syrups, in the production of intoxicating liquor in any form or of any kind, provided, however, that nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit the use of such syrups for the manufacture of wines as now provided under the law, and that nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit the manufacture of apothecary or medicinal liquors for mechanical, medicinal, sacramental or scientific purposes under rules and regulations to be prescribed by the secretary of the treasury.

Provision, $5,000 Fine.
"Violation of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $500 or by imprisonment of not more than three years or both."

Senator Phelan of California succeeded in having the amendment accepted to permit the manufacture of wine. As introduced by Senator Cummins the provisions would have prohibited the use of any edible things in the manufacture of alcoholic liquors, but Senator Phelan persuaded the senate to protect the wine making industry of his state by striking out "edible" and substituting sugar and syrup.

Senator Wadsworth of New York led the fight to amend the amendment to exempt the manufacture of all except spirituous liquors. He declared that the amendment would ruin an important industry. His amendment was defeated, 42 to 31.

Senator Grinnell of North Dakota tried to have a substitute accepted for the Cummins amendment prohibiting the use of every kind of foodstuff in the manufacture of alcohol. He declared success in the war depended largely on the conservation of foodstuffs and that any stuffs that were taken to prevent waste should be included.

Senator Field of Missouri, author of the bone dry law prohibiting the shipment of alcohol into dry states, offered an amendment absolutely prohibiting the sale of liquor during the year. He succeeded in gaining considerable support for the measure but it was finally voted down 47 to 25.

ALL BOSTON CHEERS
JOFFRE, HERO OF MARNE

(The International News Service.)

Boston, May 12.—A gray haired Frenchman under the red and gold cap of marshal of France, roused Boston today to the most wonderful demonstration of love and admiration the city has ever known.

Jooffre of the Marne, hero and idol of the French nation, rode thru a winding lane of 500,000 cheering men, women and children.

The flag of his country side by side with the Stars and Stripes, floated in the sun and rain of the fateful afternoon above the half million that jammed the city's highways to do him honor.

Jooffre was greeted as no other man has been in Boston. He concluded his triumphal tour of American cities with a day that often brought tears to the gray blue eyes under the shaggy brows.

POLICE THINK CHICAGO
GIRL KILLED HERSELF

BUT PERHAPS WITH THE AID OF ACCUSED GIRL UNCLE.

(The International News Service.)

Chicago, May 12.—Thirteen-year-old Grace Hageman shot and killed herself but perhaps with the aid of her uncle, Doris Anderson. This was the conclusion reached by the police tonight, after two days' efforts to solve the most puzzling mystery in child criminology they have ever encountered.

Doris, they believe, secured the revolver, loaded it and possibly even placed the weapon in the hands of the Hageman girl, either as a part of some strange suicide pact which had its origin in the secret school girl organization of "black followers," or as a result of a childish love triangle.

Grace Hageman's relatives, however, rejected the suicide theory and told the police they were positive Doris shot the little girl in a fit of jealousy over her uncle's love for Doris. Grace's uncle, called at Doris' home. At their request the investigation is being continued and Doris is still detained at the Juvenile Detention Home.

ANOTHER GERMAN
RETREAT EXPECTED

Military Expert of Berlin Tageblatt Says British "Panks" Terrorize Tientsins.

(The International News Service.)

London, May 12.—With three powerful onslaughts today the British resumed their drive against the fortified positions of the German line. The three thrusts were struck in the region of Bullecourt, the hotly contested village where the British are trying to turn the German line.

The three thrusts were struck in the region of Bullecourt, the hotly contested village where the British are trying to turn the German line. The three thrusts were struck in the region of Bullecourt, the hotly contested village where the British are trying to turn the German line.

By their new advance in each of these three sectors, the British pushed forward, continually close to the Droocourt-Quenest line which is the German position. The fall of Bullecourt seemed imminent this evening. Berlin in its official report did not concede that the Germans were forced to yield new ground. British attacks, some of them launched in "defensive" positions, according to the German war office, were for the greater part repulsed by our certain of fire and wherever they succeeded in penetrating our lines counter attacks immediately threw them back with heavy losses.

British "Panks" Real Fear.
The first admission from German quarters that the British "Panks" and their gas shells hold immense terrors for the Tientsins, and have been instrumental in inflicting defeats on the Germans came today from Baron von Ardenne, successor to Major Morhart, as military critic of the Berliner Tageblatt. It was the hail of British gas shells he conceded, that so blinded the German gunners in Sir Douglas Haig's great drive on the Arras front April 9, that the German artillery was "sorely hampered in its work."

On the other hand he contends that the French, a week later, suffered equally from the gas shell bombardment.

The most amazing weapon which modern land warfare has produced is the way Baron Ardenne characterized the "Pank," conceding that these huge crushing machines have inflicted great losses on the Tientsins especially by their flanking fire.

Predicts Another German Retreat.
The writer forebodes the abandonment by the Germans of all the fortified works of the Western line such as Arras, Opy and Reuvel villages. What is going on in the Champagne and on the Alsace now, he describes as "merely a delaying tactic in the former times it would have been called a big battle. On this front, he predicts a "gigantic engagement."

The crown prince's heavy guns today took part in a furious bombardment all along the Verdun front, preparing new infantry attacks there. Otherwise there were only patrol operations on the Franco-German front in the last 24 hours.

WHEATLESS DAYS
PROPOSED FOR U. S.

(The International News Service.)

Washington, May 12.—Wheatless days for America were proposed today for the future by the department of agriculture. Frightened department officials are convinced that unless some such method of conserving the wheat supply smaller than usual this year is adopted the United States will face a real food pinch before next year's grain crop is available.

TO RUSH ARMY
FOR ROOSEVELT

Monday Morning Conference
Over Bill Authorizing Expedition to France Expected.

ILLINOIS MEMBERS VOTE YES

(The International News Service.)

Washington, May 12.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt's fight for congressional authority to raise a division of volunteers for service in France is won. By a vote of 115 to 117, the house, after vigorous debate this afternoon, recommitted the conference report on the expedition bill with instructions to its conferees to agree to the senate amendment authorizing acceptance of the colonel's offer. A few minutes after action had been reported to the senate, Senator Chamberlain, chairman of the senate conference on the expedition bill, asked permission to withdraw the report submitted Thursday. He received permission without objection and the report went to conference.

Expect Quick Agreement.
The conferees will meet again Monday morning. With their new instructions, indications are that an agreement will be reached within a few hours. Those in charge of the bill hoped to have the measure ready for President Wilson's signature.

Whether the reports will throw other points of difference open to discussion was an open question tonight. The conferees took the view that the contest over the army bill prohibition and the Fall amendment, authorizing a cavalry patrol of three regiments to protect the Mexican border during the war with Germany, could be reopened in the conference. If this is done some delay may result in getting the report back before the house and senate.

It is considered almost a certainty, however, that the age limit 21 to 30 years, inclusive, will remain unchanged.

Vote in Senate Week.
The vote on the expedition amendment in the senate was held in the middle west states: Illinois—Ayes: Cannon, Copley, Denison, Foss, Fuller, Graham, Ireland, McCormick, McKinley, Mason, Sterling, Wheeler, Wilson, Jett, Williams. Noes: Britten, Foster, Gallagher, King, McKelvie, Madden, Mason, Ralston, Sabath, Not voting: McDermott, Martin, Rosenberger.

Colonel in Statement.
New York, May 12.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt said tonight:

"I am deeply gratified at what the house has done. I see they have taken the idea of the expedition seriously and patriotic toward enabling us to utilize all elements in the country which would otherwise not be utilized at all.

"It will enable a mixed force of regulars and volunteers to be sent to Europe during the time necessary for equipping the great army raised under selective draft."

Keatinger to Woodstock May 30.—Senator Harold C. Keatinger, of Aurora, will deliver the Memorial day address at Woodstock in McHenry county.

Those who have realized the value of coming down town on Monday to supply themselves with a great many things necessary for family use—would never for one moment consider the idea of not attending these special sales. They know they are making a saving and economy in the "by-word" of the hour. The business men of Aurora in every branch of trade are prepared to do their share along these lines. They are of the right kind and spirit, always looking out for the interest of their customers, and Aurora people should do their share as well, by patronizing home stores only. Conditions in the mercantile world in Aurora have changed materially in the past decade or two. Aurora merchants have kept abreast with the times. Nowadays you will find great assortments in every branch of merchandise and when the market gives you the opportunity on any Monday to buy an article below the regular price, he is doing you a favor; for he is sharing his profit with you—and by so doing, saves money for you.

WILSON SEES WAR
UNITING AMERICA

Tells Red Cross Women Orals
Will Fuse Great Body of People in the Nation.

(The International News Service.)

Washington, May 12.—President Wilson this afternoon in accepting on behalf of the nation the new memorial building to the American Red Cross association, predicted the entrance of this country into the world war would serve to make a single people out of the great body of those who call themselves "Americans."

A note of triumph rang in his voice when he said:

"The divisions which were predicted have not occurred, and will not occur. The spirit of this people is already united and when effort and suffering and sacrifice have completed the union, men will no longer speak of any lines either of race or association, cutting asunder the great body of this nation."

The audience that filled the auditorium of the Memorial Continental hall where the exercises were held and composed mostly of Red Cross women, gave the president an ovation of five minutes' duration when he closed his remarks, with the prophecy that the future would reward the dedication of another memorial.

"To be erected to those whose hearts today unite, united America."

Former President William Howard Taft was the presiding officer at the exercises. In a brief introductory speech, he outlined the history of the movement that had its culmination today in the dedication of the $600,000 memorial built by the government of the United States and patriotic citizens to the women of the north and the women of the south who sacrificed themselves during civil war.

FIX MUNITION PRICE

(The International News Service.)

Washington, May 12.—The United States has set a flat price for munitions of all kinds and manufacturers must accept that figure. This is the result of more than a week of daily conferences between officials of the war and navy departments and munitions manufacturers of the country. The only alternative to the proposition is that contractors shall be awarded on a cost plus a fair percentage of profit basis.

NEW RUSSIA TORN
BY INTERNAL WAR

(The International News Service.)

Petrograd, May 12.—Internal dissension threatens to drag Russia from its new freedom into the abysses of anarchy and peasant war. The workmen and peasants for whose sake the Duma two months ago overthrew the czar's autocracy are becoming more and more impatient as the wrangle of petty politics grows in the capital and have begun to take matters into their own hands.

"All share in the profits" is the cry of the workmen, "land" that of the peasants. Today news reached Petrograd that 150,000,000 acres of land already have been seized by the peasants. The council's executive committee defeated by one vote. Today the proposal for the formation of a coalition ministry 22 voted for and 21 against it.

Disorganization Grows.
Now it is left to the full council to decide the matters. The peasants are voting on the distribution of the land at "popular assemblies." The workmen are organizing committees to develop a plan of profit sharing. They appoint officers who "keep check" on the manufacturers and who seek to share a control of the business. Under the workmen's "orders" every shipment must be sanctioned by these officers. Meanwhile disorganization is spreading thru the ranks of the army. Foreign Minister Mikoyan gave out a lengthy statement today declaring that Russia is loyal to the entente and urging the country to seal this loyalty by internal unity. Japan, he asserted, had no intention of attacking Russia. He said the internal situation in Germany was critical. The United States, he declared, gave out a lengthy statement today declaring that Russia is loyal to the entente and urging the country to seal this loyalty by internal unity.

WILSON WILL CONTROL
ALL AMERICAN SHIPPING

(The International News Service.)

Washington, May 12.—President Wilson's control over American shipping will be made absolute and congress will provide every dollar he and his advisors believe to be essential to make merchant shipping a winning factor in the war. This assurance was given the white house tonight by leaders in both the senate and house, following numerous preliminary conferences over the provisions of the legislation tentatively drafted by administration experts to speed the shipping program to its utmost and to provide the funds needed at once to forestall construction plans already outlined an amendment will be offered to the Urgent Deficiency bill, carrying army and navy appropriations amounting to $2,800,000,000. This bill is now before the senate finance committee. While the shipping program already outlined by the president and his advisors contemplated the spending of not less than $1,000,000,000, in two years to turn out great fleets of small but swift wooden and steel cargo carriers. It is probable, after a review of the subjects by congressional leaders that the shipping appropriation to be made immediately available will not exceed $500,000,000. This will be satisfactory to the president and his aides. The amount of money which will be raised by a bond issue will not be definitely agreed upon until early next week.

Misses Marie Sharker and Margaret Loveland are spending the week-end with friends in Dixon.

WILL FORM RED

Aurora to Organize at Meeting
Tomorrow Night Following
Other Cities Lead.

PUBLIC IS URGED TO ENROLL

(The International News Service.)

A meeting of all men and women interested in the organization of an Aurora chapter of the Red Cross, are asked to meet Monday evening in the parlors of the Y. M. C. A. The Aurora Elks lodge has kindly volunteered to stand back of the proposition to form such an organization, a body of workers such as has been formed in all cities of any size all over the United States. Many women, as well as men, have expressed themselves as eager to join the organization. The Chicago women section is the body, and this meeting of Monday evening will give them an opportunity to become acquainted with the proposition.

Red Cross Shop.
The Red Cross which has been operating so successfully all day each Wednesday on the second floor of the Y. M. C. A. building, was organized under the auspices of the Daughters of the American Revolution. This shop has been the recipient of number of gifts, among the latest being four white sewing machines to be presented by William Tyers, agent for this machine in Aurora.

There seems to be quite a bit of comment about the knitting of socks. The Chicago women seem to have decided that while store socks may be cheaper, and that knitting machines turn them out faster, the hand knit socks are preferable. Therefore, not only will Aurora women turn out the knitting machine product, but many women will knit the socks, directions for which may be obtained at Chicago Red Cross headquarters.

DRUNKS TO RAISE CROP IS MAYOR'S ORDER

(The International News Service.)

Lockhaven, Pa., May 12.—The mayor of this city has solved, partially at least, the problem of the threatened food shortage. Recently when a stranger was arrested for drunkenness and could not pay the city fine "His Honor" sentenced the man to the plot of ground in the rear of the Ross library, which will be cultivated. The mayor feels sure he will get enough of this class of labor in the next few months to take excellent care of the crop.

Warren Freshour, one of the younger members of The Beacon-News force who enlisted in the regular army, writes that he has gained seven pounds in the 10 days since he joined the colors. Warren's writing is similar to that of the other boys who have united in praise of "U. S. grub."

Charles W. Dean, 25 years old, arrested at St. Joseph, Mo., Thursday and brought back to Aurora Friday to answer to a charge of stealing two ounces and one grain of platinum out of the Burlington railroad laboratory here, has made a confession in which he tells that he used his wife as his dupes in an effort to sell the stolen treasure. He sent her to a jewelry store in St. Joseph to learn what price he could get for the platinum. In the confession, made to Chief of Police McCarty, Chief of Detectives Wirtz and Special Agent Betts of the railroad company, Dean said he put the platinum, valued by the railroad company at $125 an ounce, in a letter on April 27 and mailed it to his wife, who was visiting in St. Joseph. He left the same night for St. Joseph and arrived there on April 28, he says.

Upon his arrival in St. Joseph, Dean had his wife take the platinum to the biggest jewelry store in the town and get a price on it. The jeweler got suspicious and notified the police. The railroad detectives were then notified and Dean was arrested. All of the metal was recovered. Dean says his wife did not know he stole the platinum.

He occupies a cell in the city jail. He waived examination at his preliminary hearing Friday, but has been unable to get bail. His bonds were fixed at $2,000.

Until he was suspected of the robbery, Dean was employed as an inspector of metals by the Burlington in the local laboratory.

INCREASE POULTRY PRODUCTS OF U. S.

Food Bulletin Says Can be Doubled in Year, Adding $300,000,000 in Foods.

Both Meat and Eggs. Bureau of Home, Breeds, Like Plymouth Rocks, Urged.

Washington, D. C., May 12.—The report made at the recent agricultural conference at St. Louis that poultry products of the United States could be doubled within a year and that if everybody in a position to help did their part $300,000,000 worth of food would be added to our supply this year.

The report, both meat for the home and export. Very few farmers have a systematic plan for disposing of their fowls after they have been productive, although it is well known that fowls of the heavier breeds such as the Plymouth Rocks, are more productive than the lighter breeds, such as the Leghorns, at the end of their third year. Consequently, if efforts were made to dispose of all females when their best laying days were over, a large quantity of poultry might be placed on the market. All poultry should be culled out and used as meat. This way of disposing of unproductive fowls would allow the farmer to feed his grain to younger and more productive fowls.

Patten on the Farm.

Expanding the cockerels that are intended for breeding purposes will not only increase their size but will place a more desirable poultry on the market. Another practice that should be adopted more widely is that of fattening all chickens that are to be marketed before they leave the farm. This can be done easily by confining the birds in a pen for ten days and feeding them a good fattening ration. They will come to market then in better condition and the farmer will receive a profit for their added weight. The greater production of turkeys, guinea fowls, and guineas, all of which can be profitably raised and a ready market found in most sections, could increase the supply of poultry considerably. The production of ducks especially should be emphasized at this time, because of the scarcity of meat. They grow rapidly, weigh from five to six pounds at six weeks of age. It is estimated by poultrymen making a specialty of growing ducks that the feed cost per pound of producing duck meat ranges from eight to 12 cents, depending upon the current prices of grain and other feeds.

Increasing the Supply of Eggs.

The number of marketable eggs can be increased by following a few practical suggestions. Among the most important of these are the production of the infertile egg after the breeding season is over, and the proper handling of eggs by the farmer before sending them to market. The infertile egg is obtained when the female bird is removed from the flock. This does not decrease the number of eggs produced, but it does increase greatly their keeping qualities. The production of the infertile egg and the proper handling and Sperry, aviation expert and inventor of the Sperry gyroscopic stabilizing device for aeroplanes, who, according to unofficial reports from Washington, has submitted to the naval consulting board and the navy department a device which will prove to be a complete and definite means of eliminating the menace of the German submarine. It is said to have been the Sperry invention that W. L. Saunders, chairman of the naval consulting board, referred when he stated recently that means had been found to successfully cope with the U-boats.

market of eggs by the producer would increase tremendously the number of eggs each year by diminishing the quantity that are rendered unfit for food.

An increased production of duck eggs is advisable where a suitable market is found.

The poultry house should be clean and sanitary and the fowls free from insect pests, thereby preventing disease and mortality. It is estimated that nearly $9,000,000 worth of poultry is lost each year thru disease alone. Special attention should be given to the feeding and housing of laying fowls at seasons of the year when their natural source of food supply is cut off.

General Increase in Poultry Products.

Although the hatching season proper should be considered at an end by May 1, it may be feasible in some sections of the northern and northwestern part of this country to continue hatching until the first of June. Chicks hatched at that time, with proper feeding and management, will frequently begin laying in January of the following year. The maturity of fowls hatched late can be greatly increased if the mother hens are confined until the chickens are weaned. In this way feed that is furnished the chicks produces growth, instead of energy to follow the mother. Extra precautions should be taken in the late spring and early summer to keep the young birds free from lice and disease, both of which cause thousands to die every year. More general use of the incubator and brooder will considerably increase the output of chickens and consequently the number of layers the following year.

PASSENGER TRAIN CUT HELPS ROADS

U. S. Order Designed to Increase Freight Carriers, Saves Companies Money, 'Q' Men Say.

Many Trains Between Big Points Are Now Duplicated on the Various Trunk Lines.

Railroads in general will welcome the order by the government to cut down the passenger traffic in the by taking passenger trains out of United States by a third. This move will do away with lots of competition between the steam lines which has meant a big expense.

A local official of the Burlington railroad said that the order would not impair passenger traffic on this line as there are many duplicated trains running between certain points now.

An idea of the saving to be made service to make way for freight may be obtained by looking over train schedules. In Chicago many trains on different roads leave at almost the same hours for the same points.

Burlington trains at night between 6 o'clock and 10 o'clock leave Chicago in competition with other roads. Out of Chicago every day there are three trains to St. Paul, four to Omaha, two to Kansas City, three to Denver, one to St. Louis, and two to Seattle.

Most of the competition to St. Paul at night, the Burlington having one train at 6:30 and another at 10:15. The Minneapolis Limited and the Chicago and North Western are also in competition. At St. Paul at night the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road operates three trains, the C. & N. W. three trains, the I. C. one train, the Chicago & Great Western one train, the Soo line one train, and the Rock Island one train.

The Burlington does the North Western mail trains between Chicago and St. Paul every night. It may be that one of these will be taken out of service, although no such orders have been received as yet.

Competition between Chicago and the east, however, is most keen. Eighty-seven thru trains ply between Chicago and New York every day.

Twelve of these leave Chicago between the hours of 8 and 11 every morning and 12 more leave between the hours of 2 and 6 every afternoon.

A 11th situation exists between Chicago and St. Louis where a total of 29 passenger trains operate every day.

BEGIN TAKING CENSUS OF FARM LABOR NEEDS

By Associated Press Local Wire.] Chicago, May 12.—C. T. Clayton, Washington, D. C., special representative of the department of labor, is in Chicago today to start a census of Illinois farms, so the department of labor may find laboring men for them. He is also engaged in assisting Gen. George W. Goethals in obtaining men to work in the shipyards of both coasts where the new wooden fleet is to be constructed to combat the submarine menace.

Mr. Clayton, in connection with the nation wide investigation of farm needs, is to start the organization in Illinois of boys as part of the "boys' working reserve," which will send boys to farms to help take care of the increased crops. Boys from all parts of the United States between the ages of 16 and 21 are being organized.

DES MOINES PREPARES FOR FIRST 'BLUE SUNDAY'

By Associated Press Local Wire.] Des Moines, Ia., May 12.—Cigar stands and drug stores were rushed today by citizens laying in stocks to tide over what promises to be Des Moines' first "blue" Sunday under the campaign of Sabbath law enforcement recently launched by Attorney-General Hayner.

Indications were that nearly every branch of business affected by the closing law, will submit peacefully to the attorney-general's mandate. Managers of all drug stores and cigar stands in the city have agreed to close, together with shoe shining shops and a number of other individual concerns. The theater men have decided to operate three places differently as test cases. Bakeries will make deliveries only at hotels and restaurants.

NEW TARIFF TO SAVE MILLIONS FOR REVENUE

By Associated Press Local Wire.] Washington, D. C., May 12.—The new tariff commission's first act has been to recommend legislation exempted to leave to the government millions of dollars in revenue.

The commission proposes that all the customs increases proposed in the war tax bill shall become effective from the date of the report of the bill to the house. Thus, the commission proposes to stop the usual practice of importers of rushing in great quantities of products on which they know duties are to be raised. Consumers, the commission says, always have bought the products at the increased rate.

The commission has ordered investigations into the chemical schedule, the sugar situation, both cane and beets, the wool situation and other phases of the sheep industry and made tentative plans for investigating the silk situation.

Sheriff and Recorder at Head of Work in Counties—Mayor in Larger Cities.

ASK VOLUNTEER WORKERS

Acting on general instructions from the war department that state adjutants-general shall be ex officio heads of the military census work, Adjutant-General Dickson of Illinois has set on foot exhaustive plans for listing all men in this state whose names are within the limits designated in the federal army bill.

While an outline of the methods to be followed in the various states has been prepared by the war department and sent broadcast thru the nation, enough leeway has been allowed adjutants-general to permit them to use methods adapted to the special conditions of their states so long as they observe the main principle of the government's scheme.

General Dickson has begun fitting up a big office room in the state arsenal, across the street from the state house, where a large corps of census takers, both men and women, will be employed. It is hoped to obtain enough volunteer services to accomplish the enumeration, but the government has provided remuneration for workers whom it is necessary to pay.

Headquarters at Springfield. The headquarters in Springfield will be the seat from which the work in every county in Illinois will be administered.

Governor Owen is head of the state military organization and therefore in titular head of the census making machinery, but all details have been turned over to Adjutant-General Dickson.

General Dickson said the sheriff and the recorder in each county in Illinois would be constituted members of the county census boards by virtue of their offices. Other than these he has not yet determined upon, the probable make up of the local boards.

In cities, there will be one chief board, and such other subsidiary boards as may be needed to carry out the work.

Election precincts will be followed in accomplishing the registration on a day to be designated by President Wilson in a proclamation.

Mayors in cities of 10,000 and upwards, will be in charge of the census work.

WILL NOW MAKE SHOES IN AURORA

Dave Sherman Springs Surprise
Aurora is to have a shoe factory. Dave Sherman, proprietor of the Quick Shoe Repair Shop and the Original Shoe Market at 27 and 29 South Broadway, has announced his intention of manufacturing custom made shoes for the Aurora public. It is his plan to sell out the shoe market and use this space for his factory. The entire room will be equipped with the most modern machinery and improvements. Sherman claims a new invention just discovered will enable him to turn out shoes two hours after measurements have been taken. Shoes will be made to order, only solid leather used and they will sell at all prices.

The Shoe Repair shop will continue as before at 57 South Broadway. Sherman, being anxious to sell out the market, has cut shoes to cost prices, figures the likes of which have never been seen before in Aurora. Now that he is selling out, you can depend on it, Dave will do it in a hurry if he has to practically give goods away to do so.—Adv.

HOPE FOR MAJORITY OF CONSUMPTIVES

(The International News Service.)

Cincinnati, May 10.—That the majority of cases of tuberculosis, existing in a section at any given time will recover completely if they receive proper care at sanatoria, hospitals and at home, and that these patients need not necessarily and at any time be a danger to persons around them, is shown by an analysis of 2,957 cases studied recently in the state of Michigan in the course of a state-wide survey. These cases were distributed thru 22 different counties.

Dr. F. C. Vaughan, Jr., of Detroit, in reporting the results of this study before the clinical section of the annual meeting of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis today showed that out of these 2,957 cases, 1,715, or over 57 per cent, were in the incipient stage and in most instances under supervision will recover without at any time being infectious.

It was found that during this early stage a "temperature" was most common, and therefore served as a timely warning of danger. In less than 15 per cent of the entire number of cases studied had there been any sign of hemorrhage.

The influence of intimate association in the spread of tuberculosis by infection was shown by the fact that among these cases tuberculosis females generally gave a history of the disease in a mother or sister, while the males reported tuberculosis in a father or brother.

GERMAN PLOTTER TAKEN TO GENEVA

Hans Helle, Giant Chased by Secret Service Men, Was Finally Located in Chicago.

Charged With Placing Bombs on Boat in Atlantic and Gulf of Mexico Ports.

Hans Helle, a giant German, waived by American secret service men for six months, is now a prisoner in the Kane county jail at Geneva. Helle is charged with being one of the men who planted bombs in the boats in the Atlantic ocean and Gulf of Mexico ports.

Helle was located at New Orleans last winter but escaped, although surrounded by 15 secret service men. The search for Helle was continued and he was finally found at the round house of the C. & N. W. railroad company at West Fortieth street, Chicago. He had obtained employment there and was working as a janitor. He was arrested on a president's order.

Helle was ordered taken to Geneva for safe keeping by Attorney General Gregory and was taken there from Chicago by United States Deputy Marshal Thomas Smith of Aurora. Before taking his prisoner to the county jail Smith had him locked in the Aurora jail.

Helle weighs 310 pounds and is six feet and one inch tall. He is a man of exceptional strength. Fellow workmen at the Chicago round house stated that he could lift the side rod of one of the large locomotive drive wheels without any apparent effort.

The Knitted Sweaters.
Knitting has seemed to become increasingly popular of late, one of the amusements of the moment being the knitting of sweaters. Any number of young girls are at work upon the pretty garments, knitted of the heavy Germantown, the Shetland or what is known as "Vicuna," a silky wool. Many are knitted in kimono fashion, others in regulation sweater pattern. The majority have the white collars and cuffs, with bands of the color. Some of the sweaters are crocheted but they, of course, are not to be compared with the knitted garments.

It is estimated that a sweater made in this way costs the maker but four or five dollars, while at some of the large shops similar garments cost $25.

Fern Club.
The Fern club met Friday with Mrs. Frank Young at her Kanawille home. There was a delicious dinner, followed by cards, the scores going to Mesdames William Shoger and William Klammer. Let Us Furnish Your Home; We Will Do It Right

THE June Bride's first outfitting of the home need not necessarily be so very large or expensive, but it should be good as far as it goes, and of the very latest in style, design and finish. You will find everything in this store of the 1917 styles, for we never permit old goods to accumulate. When you buy here you run no risk of embarrassment when your friends call, because everything you have will be up-to-date.

We have outfitted hundreds of June Brides and our experience may be helpful in suggesting just the things to get first, particularly if the expense is an item for serious consideration. Come and see the stock anyway before you buy; you will not be urged to buy just because you called to look. We will be very glad to show you the finest line in this section, for we are proud enough of it to enjoy showing it to those who are interested enough to spend their time looking.

One thing is certain: everybody who comes here is a friend of the house if they buy or not. If we do not sell them this time, we will do so some time; because they become impressed with our desire to please, and fairness in dealing.

Tomorrow Will Be a Good Time to Come!

Aurora Society News

It is a dull week when the women of Aurora cannot elect somebody. Last week witnessed two—that of the Aurora Woman's club and the election of a member of the east school board to fill a vacancy. The woman came out in full force. The first vote cast in the election was that of a woman, Mrs. Eliza Young, grandmother of the successful candidate, Sumner J. Ricker Jr., with an untimed over the "Junior." The center school had all the appearance of the site of a presidential contest, so thick were the automobiles, motorcycles and workers. Mr. Ricker with a hallmarked of workers, was his usual genial self, well supported by his brother, DeLoach, far better known in Aurora, Ill., as "Budge," while his sister, Miss Mollie Ricker, drove one of the automobiles. Mr. Ricker was described shaking hands with Miss Jessie Parnsworth, a late comer in the field, whose friends and neighbors rallied about her, while she stood a little at one side with his friends. It was woman's day, however, many coming with tiny children, even babies in perambulators.

The Red Cross Entertainment. Rehearsals were going yesterday for the Lady Mistrals to be given at the Fox theater Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings of next week for the benefit of the Red Cross. The entertainment promises to be extremely clever, with catchy songs, pretty girls in gay costumes, attractive stage arrangement, and all the jokes and innuendoes of unusual features.

The tickets are selling for 50 cents apiece, and by the way are selling, too—one young woman having sold 75 up to date, so it was reported Saturday afternoon. These tickets are to be exchanged Wednesday morning at the Fox theater, free of extra charge. Among the unusual features which will be included is a Hungarian dance, given by native Hungarians in costume. A quartet from the Cecilia Musical club is another unusual feature.

The choruses will be more than ordinarily good as all the voices are fresh and unspoiled and is said that Saturday's rehearsal went remarkably well. The dress rehearsal will be held Tuesday evening at the young women, a number of the members of the Beta Phi Delta sorority.

Aurora Country Club May Party. The Aurora country club is about to awaken from its winter hibernation and again become the gay, informal social mecca which it was before the war clouds seemed unpleasantly imminent.

May 24 there will be one of the nicest possible May parties, in charge of the club entertainment committee. There will be decorations in flags and all sorts of festive symbols, and dancing and card playing will both be on tap. It is said that music has been secured on the calliope which would put inspiration into an Indian clarinet, and while nothing was said about it, there will probably be a band, at least at the first opportunity. N. M. Hutchinson, chairman of the committee, will be interviewed on this subject. Members are cordially invited, and by the way also, they are permitted to bring guests. A May party is always one of the prettiest occasions of any season, for there is an opportunity to wear light colored gowns, and there can be flowers galore.

Delta Phi Sigma. The Delta Phi Sigma fraternity, which recently opened its new club rooms in South Broadway, will give a dancing party in Sweet's academy next Wednesday evening. Herbert Gilbert and Otto Cronwell constitute the committee in charge. The music will be furnished by the Eddie Fitzgerald orchestra.

Miss Ganser's Closing Party.

Miss Alice Ganser, the popular little dark-eyed dancing teacher, who is closing her dancing lessons, and is to be married in June, gave her closing party last evening, with a number of lovely May day dances by the children, after which there was general dancing for the junior high school young people. Marian Magnan, one of the young dancers, is but 8 years old and her dancing was remarkable. The program was as follows:

"May Day," Marian Magnan, and "Romance," June Keith, both little girls wearing ball costumes. Spring song, Marian Magnan, Margaret Mangan, Corinne Alshuler, June Thomas, Helen Rhodes, Geraldine Chapman and Alice Evans. "A Valentine," Katherine Martin. "Midsummer Moon," Jessie Thomas and Margaret Mangan.

These little girls were what is known as "nature gowns," little white straight gowns. "The daisy dance," Grace Stuart, Eleanor Mangan, Katherine Martin, Helen Rhodes, June Keith, Helen McDougal, in yellow and white ball gowns, carrying daisies. "Morning" and "Evening," Corinne Alshuler, Helen Rhodes, in "nature gowns."

"A butterfly," Geraldine Chapman, yellow and white net. "Dance of the winds," Jessie Thomas, a student at Ward-Belmont school, Nashville, Tennessee, and Harry W. Edmunds of the Western United Gas and Electric company, will take place at Nashville June 2.

Miss Roberts' mother, Mrs. Bertha Roberts, will go south with Mr. Edmunds, the wedding occurring in the afternoon at the Hermitage, a historical and popular hotel at Nashville, and there will be a 14-day reception of Miss Roberts' roommates, Miss Ruth McGee, will be the bride, maid. A short wedding trip will include a visit with relatives in Cincinnati and Columbus, Ohio. The bride will be obliged to hurry home in order to fulfill her promise to act as matron of honor at the wedding of Miss Edna Moody and Harry Hintz of Elgin, which takes place June 7. Mr. Hintz was formerly associated with the gas company in this city. Ward-Belmont school will close the last of May, among the students who will return early in June being Miss Elizabeth Zimmermann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Zimmermann. F. M. HOLY ANGELS' ANNIVERSARY

Silver Jubilee and Confirmation of More Than 100 Planned for May 20.

BISHOP MULDOON COMING

The twenty-fifth anniversary of Holy Angels parish will be observed Sunday, May 20. Plans have been made to mark the day in a fitting manner. The religious feature of the jubilee will be held in the morning when solemn high mass will be celebrated at 10:30 and at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, when Bishop Muldoon will confirm a class of more than 100 and will preach. The bishop will remain to preside at the evening program, which will begin at 8 o'clock. This will be an entertainment by the choir and by talent from the parish and school with special commemorative exercises at which the Hon. Daniel Grady of Portage, Wis., far famed for his eloquence and wit, will be the speaker. This will be Mr. Grady's first appearance in Aurora, but his reputation has preceded him and the members of the jubilee committee feel that they are most fortunate to secure him. Both the religious and social features are expected to draw crowds of former parishioners back to Holy Angels for the day.

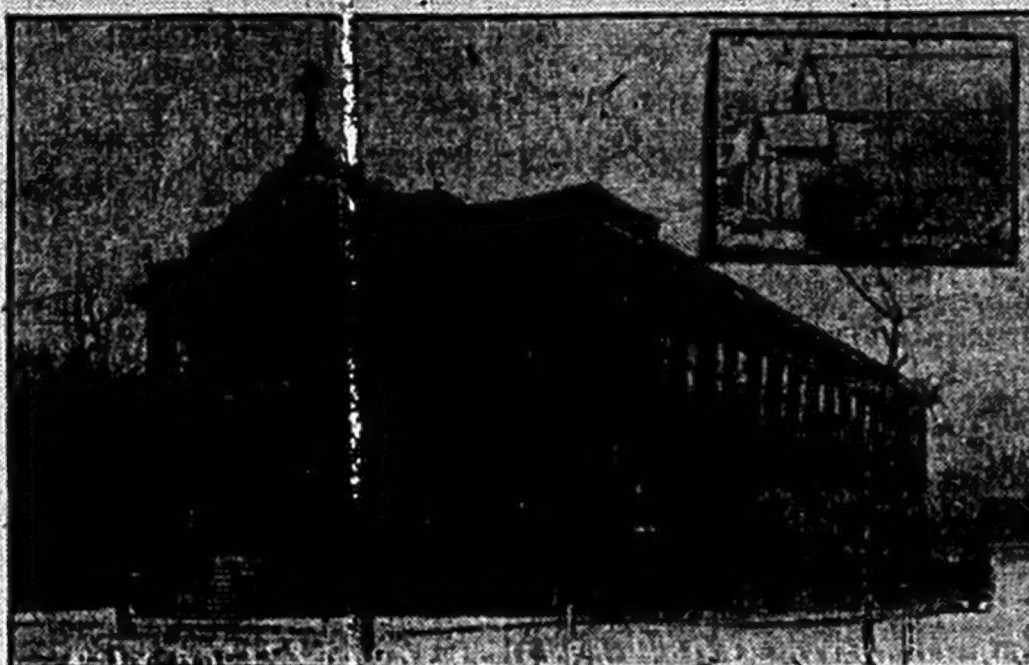

History of Church.
Early in the spring of 1892 the Most Reverend Patrick A. Feghan, archbishop of Chicago, commissioned the Rev. William A. McNamee to organize the parish in West Aurora. Father McNamee secured the third floor of Sweet's academy on North River street for temporary use and there the first services of the new congregation were held on the third Sunday of May. A little later the old Second Advent church on Locust street was purchased. Archbishop Feghan came to Aurora to take formal possession as the representative of the church and to bless the structure, being accompanied on this occasion by his distinguished guest, the late Cardinal Satolli, who had come to Chicago to represent the pope at the official opening of the Columbian exposition.

The following year the adjoining property on the corner of Galena boulevard, was acquired for a rectory. Father McNamee was appointed pastor of St. Mary's church, Joliet, in February, 1901, and was succeeded by the Rev. D. J. O'Brien, who remained until March, 1901, when he was transferred to Chicago and the Rev. L. E. Reynolds came to Aurora. Father Reynolds was in charge of the parish for eight years and was succeeded in the pastorate by the Rev. James A. Quinn. Father Quinn immediately removed the old structure and erected the splendid edifice which is church, school and hall combined. He established a school under the direction of the Dominican Sisters from Springfield, and last year purchased the McCullough property south of the church as a residence for the sisters. The parish now numbers about 450 families and there are more than 300 children attending the school.

George E. Martin and John Linden are the trustees of Holy Angels parish and Judge E. M. Mangano is chairman of the finance organization.

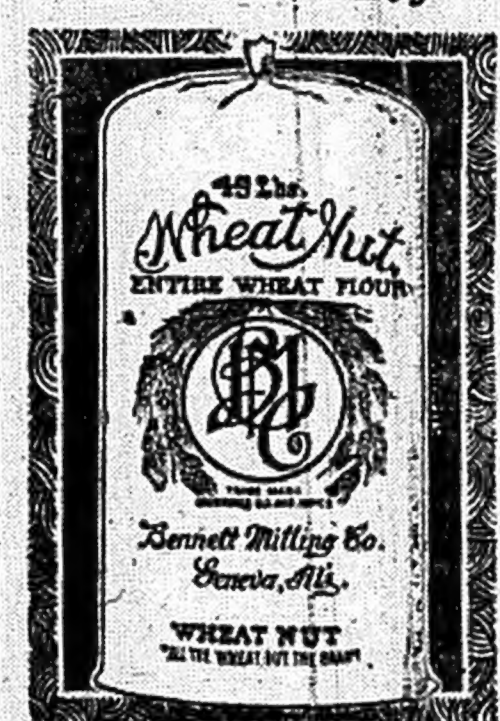

The Confirmation Class.
Those in the class to be confirmed on the afternoon of Sunday, May 20, are the following: John La Verne Abens, Genevieve Katherine Abens, Joseph Sarkus, Philip Bosseler, Walter Burk, Albert Brandon, Harry Carroll, Peter Alfred Collin, Elbert Case, Kathryn Chapman, Bernice Cox, Martha Condon, Leo Doane, Leo Davey, Eleanor Dietrich, Herbert Draw, Florence Dufrenoy, Leo Dano, Kathleen Easer, Bernice Easer, Catherine Flannigan, Claude Fletcher, John Friedrich, Carl Greiter, Pauline Greiter, Victor Robert Groner, Clifford Hickey.

HOUSEHOLD WASTE OF MILK IS COSTLY

The Half-cup of Milk Thrown Away in the Average Home Is No Trifling Matter.

U. S. Bulletin Warns of Wasteful Food Losses Thru This Reckless Custom.

Washington, D. C., May 12.—Half a cup of milk—whole, skimmed or sour—is a seemingly trifling matter—hardly worth the trouble to keep or use.

In many households quite a little milk is wasted—left uncovered in glasses—regarded as useless because the cream has been skimmed off—allowed to sour—poured down the sink or thrown out.

Now if every home—there are 20,000,000 of them—should waste on the average one-half cup daily, it would mean a waste of 3,500,000 quarts daily—or 12,500,000 quarts a year—the total product of more than 400,000 cows.

It takes a lot of grass and grain to make that much milk—and an army of people to produce and deliver it. But, every householder doesn't waste a half cup of milk a day. Well, say that one-half cup is wasted in only one out of 100 homes. Still intolerable—when milk is so nutritious—when skim milk can be used in making nutritious soups and cereal dishes—when sour milk can be used in bread making or for cottage cheese. The United States department of agriculture, Washington, D. C., or your state agricultural college will tell you how to use leftover milk—sweet, skimmed or sour.

You can't blame a man for acting foolish when he is making his milk on speech.

Right at Your Finger Tips

A better position.
A good investment.
A bargain in real estate.
A loan on your real estate.
A good partner.

You have but to turn to the want ad section of this paper to find these things together with many others—things essential to the success of men and women, young and old. Are you getting the highest prices for your brains, talent or muscle? You can soon tell by keeping in touch with the quotations of the employers in the "Help Wanted" column daily. For nowadays the successful employer uses the want ads—a much better way than the old sign on the door that was read only by those who came looking for it.

Is your money properly invested? For those who do invest no guide is more complete than the want ad page, whether it be stocks or bonds, city or farm property, live stock or what? To sell property or to find bargains in property no medium does the work quite so well as the want ads. Custom has placed real estate advertising in the want ad section and if you would buy, there you should look and if you would sell, there you should advertise.

The latter day housewife finds that she can conduct her household much more successfully by using the want ads for the simple reason she has but to look among them to find the right servants and has but to advertise among them to turn the household articles that she has discarded, into money. The farmer has adopted the want ad along with the other modern ways of doing things. It helps to solve his help problems; sells his used implements, buggies, wagons and harnesses, his seed corn, his live stock, his poultry and his eggs for hatching; and attracts larger crowds to his public sales.

The want ads are part of the cogs in the business machinery of the up-to-date real estate dealer. His ability will close the deals but the want ads are absolutely necessary in finding the prospects. The tradesman, the tinkerer, the home baker, the small contractor, the man or woman with the small business and the like will find the want ads inexpensive business stimulators.

For those in business, advertising was never more essential than it is right now. Waving a red flag at this stage of the game is like putting on ear muffs today because there may be a cold day next December. With a slogan—"London, Business as Usual"—London merchants have continued to keep the boat from rocking thru two years of war and have kept things so by continuing to advertise. The greatest barometer of prosperity is the want ad section, help to keep it on the "Fair" side.

LUCK FAVORS ROWLAND'S MEN

Mogridge Outpitches Scott but Mates Play Loose Game in Field and Sox Win 2-1.

HOSE GET ONLY THREE HITS

(The International News Service.) Chicago, May 12.—A tight fielding and pitching of equal grade defeated the Sox today, the light-hitting White Sox coping the third of the series by a 2-1 victory.

The hurling was handled by Jim Scott and George Mogridge, once a southpaw on Connie's payroll. The Sox expert sharply shaded his opponent but lost because of his mate's errors.

Only three hits were made by the Chicagoans, and not one of them was a stepping-stone to a run. On the other hand, the Sox were aided for six safe outs, but they were scattered and made less effective by the field work of Rowland's men.

The Sox were kind enough to spot the Sox a run in the first inning. One was dead when Weaver drew a pass and batted second. E. Collins then walked and Jackson smothered a hot line toward short, but Pechinpaugh snared the ball in time to force Kiddle at second. A double steal was started and Nunamaker snatched a throw to third. The ball hit Weaver in the back and rolled away permitting "Doc" to score home.

In the fourth the Sox scored and knocked the count at one apiece. This was no fault of Scott's however. Mabel scored with one out and Pipp singled to right. Baker lefted to Jack Collins and Mabel hustled to third after the catch. On a double steal, Schalk made a perfect throw to second and it was Mabel's play, but he neglected to get the ball, so Mabel scored. The half ended with Mabel popping to Weaver.

The deadlock was of short duration as the Sox presented the home gang with another tally in the home fourth. Mabel started spilling things by giving Eddie Collins two bases on a muffed fly. One gentleman was dead at the time. Mabel pushed a nice gentle grounder to Pipp who booted. Collins seeing home, Mabel and Gandil then went out by the same route.

IN THE FIELD OF SPORTS

GOLD WEATHER AND RAIN PUTS SCHEDULES BACK

(The International News Service.) For the third time in as many years, the major league baseball clubs have encountered inclement weather conditions during the early days of the pennant race. Postponed games due to rain, cold, wet grounds and even snow have been piling up in an alarming manner this spring, with the result that a number of double-headers must be played before the various clubs will be able to catch up with their schedules.

During the 19 days between the opening of the 1917 season and the first of May, there were but two on which the complete number of contests was played. The number of postponed games per day ranged from one to as high as five out of three, with the result that on the first day of this month the National league had 15 games to play and the American 15, making a total of 30.

Somehow similar conditions prevailed last April, for, during the first 15 days of the 1916 season, there were 24 games postponed, of which 18 were in the National league and eight in the American.

BALFOUR GOOD GOLF PLAYER

Head of British Commission to United States Has Good Record on Links.

HAS RECORD IN ENGLAND

(The International News Service.) New York, May 12.—Hitting as the loudest note of the present, Arthur J. Balfour, head of the British commission to the United States, has a number of New Moon moon interests in the United States and England. He was discussing the war and the outlook for their favorite sport this afternoon. It was hardly an ideal day for the driving rain outside.

The war naturally brought up the question of the British and English commissions that are now in this country. Balfour, the newly arrived, said that it was unfortunate that Arthur J. Balfour is so busy with affairs of state that he probably would not have time to go to a round of two over American golf courses.

"It certainly would be a feather in the cap of golf," said the speaker, "if it could get Mr. Balfour to play a friendly match against Mr. Wilson or Mr. Taft. And if such a match took place, it is safe to say that the British statesman would be more than able to hold his own against either the president or the former chief executive of the country. Mr. Balfour is one of the best amateur players in the English clubs."

The statement was a qualified surprise to the majority present. Few seemed to know that in the parliamentary tradition tournament at Princeton, Sandwich, June of 1911, the British secretary of the for foreign affairs was "handicapped" at only nine holes. According to the golfer, who seemed to know all about Mr. Balfour's ability on the greens, the head of the British commission to this country won his match in the first round, handily.

In the second he had a hard time to down Guy L. Bateman, a scratch man, to whom he was too good at the state hole. He squared the match at the ninth in spite of having to negotiate an awkward stroke, and after becoming drenched at the seventeenth he laid a long approach putt dead on the home green.

In the third round he won by 2 in 5 over a worn handicap man, Colonel Realy, M. P.

Now was the tournament at Sandwich the only golfing feat that brought Mr. Balfour before the public. Hunting in the files it is found that during a visit to Ranelagh in 1913 Mr. Balfour and J. S. Worthington, playing a best ball, were in 42. Mr. Balfour must have done his fair share of work in the match. Speaking of the play a British golfing authority at that time wrote:

"Mr. Balfour's recent fine form at Ranelagh must have come as a great relief to many middle-aged golfers who at 50 or so, are seriously thinking about giving up the game. When a man retires from public office on the stated grounds of 'getting too old,' and then, after a further lapse of two years, proceeds to play better golf than he has ever done before, it at least makes one think. At the same time, looking at Mr. Balfour's bronzed, healthy complexion and light step, as he played at Ranelagh a week ago, it was very difficult to believe that he is, indeed, 50 years of age."

That was four years ago, making Mr. Balfour 46 years of age now. How pleasing it would be to have him as a competitor in the annual junior tournament at Apawamis, where none but those over 55 years of age are eligible and where men up to 50 or more flock each year from all parts of the United States.

Mr. Balfour was at one time a golfing pupil of a professional named Tom Dunn, among whose earlier pupils was a no less distinguished statesman than William F. Gladstone, whose first lesson under Dunn was taken at the Earl of Aberdeen's Ranelagh house during the political campaign of 1886. Lloyd George is another who occasionally takes his recreation on the golf links.

MERMAIDS ARE IN STYLE THIS YEAR

Women Swimmers Performing Feats Since the Opening of the 1917 Season.

Miss Olga Dorner of Philadelphia Has Been Leading Breaker Among Fair Sex.

(The International News Service.) New York, May 12.—Never before have so many mermaids of gliding ability come to the fore as during the present season. Mermaids have record feats been so numerous. Beginning with the first important eastern meet in December, when the girls of the local National Women's Life-saving league hung up a 400-yard relay record of 5 minutes 43.5 seconds for a 75-foot pool, beating the old national standard by 5.5 seconds, every month has been featured by important achievements.

In January the maids of the Philadelphia Turngemeinde took another twist on the 400-yard relay figures, reducing them to 5 minutes 9 seconds, in a 60-foot pool. In February the same club lowered the 400-yard mark to 5 minutes 4.5 seconds, also in a 60-foot pool.

February brought a new record for 325 yards in open water. Miss Dorothy Burns of Los Angeles did 2 minutes 3 seconds in Honolulu over a 100-yard course, and clipped the former standard by more than 15 seconds.

March saw Miss Claire Gulligan of the Home Life-saving league, set up a record of 8 minutes 27.4 seconds for 600 yards in a 75-foot pool, and Miss Olga Dorner of the Philadelphia Turngemeinde reduced her own national time for 50 yards with two turns to 23.5 seconds.

Then came the April slaughter. Miss Frances Cowells of San Francisco first accounted for two marks in a 75-foot pool, when she placed the one for 300 yards at 4 minutes 24 seconds, some eight seconds under the old, and 449 yards at 8 minutes 42.5 seconds, a cut of about 20 seconds.

Next Miss Olga Dorner did 250 yards in 3 minutes 4.5 seconds in a 50-yard pool, a new record for the conditions. Also on the same day Miss Dorner bettered four standards in a 50-foot pool—200 yards to 4 minutes 37.5 seconds, 400 yards to 4 minutes 2.5 seconds, 449 yards to 4 min. 40.5 sec., and 480 yards to 7 minutes 22.5 seconds (the latter world's time for indoor swimming)—while the team of the Philadelphia Turngemeinde established a 160-yard relay record of 1 minute 33.5 seconds. Finally Miss Dorner turned 100 yards in a 60-foot pool in 1 minute 7.5 seconds, making more than one second off the national time for the distance.

As a crowning feat Miss Dorner established a new American record for the 330-yard swim when she won the championship at that distance here last Saturday in the remarkable time of 2 minutes 15.5 seconds, breaking her own former record of 3:04.

NOW THE TIME TO BUY TIRES

Prices of Materials Going Up
May Compel an Increase in Wheel Cushions.

LABOR SUPPLY BIG PROBLEM

Now is the time to buy tires and save money. If prices of materials continue to soar tire manufacturers will be compelled to announce another increase within the next few weeks, Jesse Froelich, a man prominent in the industry, stated yesterday.

"We have been brought to realize that our entire output of rubber comes from outside the United States or her territories," he said.

"Enough rubber could be grown in the Philippines to supply the needs of the United States, but this is impossible, since our laws prevent the importation of coolie labor into United States territory. The cost would be too great to employ white men for rubber cultivation."

"The United States consumes 160,000 tons of crude rubber yearly. On a basis of $1.50 a ton America could gain a business of $225,000,000 yearly by cultivating rubber in the Philippines."

"Likewise our cotton comes from other shores. We grow plenty of ordinary cotton in America, and some long staple cotton, but not enough of the latter to meet our needs."

"Last year cotton moved from 60 cents for the best grades of Sea Island to the present price of $1.50 a pound."

DON'T TAKE ROUGH HILL ON HIGH GEAR

Drop Into "Second" So That Speed May Be Kept at Comfortable and Safe Speed.

Advice Should Be Given Particularly
By Owners of Relatively Low Powered Cars.

Many modern cars possess such an immense reserve of power that all ordinary hills can be surmounted by them on high gear, at almost any desired speed, simply by throttle control, but with the average relatively low powered car, hills severe enough to call for some driving skill and for some gear-changing are occasionally encountered, particularly in touring over unimproved roads. Indeed, there are hills occasionally met with which hardly any car, however heavily powered, can reasonably be expected to negotiate on direct drive. The following suggestions are offered particularly to owners of low and moderate powered cars, who have had little experience in cross country touring, when approaching the foot of a hill speed up the car somewhat, with the throttle in order that it may not lose momentum and keep opening the throttle as the grade is reached to maintain a rate of 40 to 45 miles an hour. If the hill is quite rough and steep, the engine is powerful and efficient, if the hill is not too steep, and the car is not too heavily loaded, it is better to drop into "second," so that car speed may be kept down to a safe and comfortable point. When climbing on direct drive, as the grade increases open the throttle and required to maintain the desired speed, but do not let the speed fall below say 12 miles per hour, with the throttle wide open. When this occurs drop into second speed and thus save time and fuel and avoid needless wear and tear of the engine. This applies particularly to four cylinder cars. Unless automatic spark control is provided, do not let the engine slow down to a very low speed, on open throttle without retarding the ignition. Changes from a higher to a lower gear must be made quickly and deftly, if the momentum of the car is not sacrificed and some practice is required before prompt and noiseless changes can be infallibly made. Such "downward" changes are best made by double-clutching (previously described in these columns). In approaching a hill that is known to be too steep to be taken on "high" it is better to change to second just before beginning the ascent.

WILLYS-OVERLAND MEN FORM MOTOR RESERVE

The movement among Willys-Overland dealers throughout the country to form motor reserve corps companies, composed of Willys-Overland cars and expert drivers, for service in connection with the mobilization of state military units and home protection, is rapidly assuming national importance. Among the more recent to take up the idea is the Los Angeles dealer. The plan has the approval of the factory officials and military authorities.

E. R. Carhart, president of the Carhart Motor company, Oklahoma Willys-Overland distributor, is said to have been the originator of the plan. His object was to facilitate and expedite the mobilization of state troops in emergency cases.

PRINTED STATIONERY PAYS.

What about that up-to-date farm stationery you were to have had made? We've heard of two farmers who happened to apply at about the same time for loans from a trust company. Farmer A had printed stationery and wrote his letter on a typewriter; Farmer B, just as well off as A in this world's goods, used a pencil and scratch paper, and wrote on both sides of the sheet. The result was B's letter made so had an impression that he experienced considerable delay and trouble in getting his loan, while A's was granted almost immediately. In getting results from correspondence, the neatly written letter on printed stationery is as far superior to a pencil scribble on a piece of scratch paper as a 12 cylinder automobile is to an ancient—Progressive Farmer.

FORD STEEL MUS- PASS HIGH TEST

The Ford Motor company has recognized along with other motor car manufacturers that quality in the automobile chassis is determined by the strength of the material of which it is constructed and the simplicity of design.

The correctness of Ford design is demonstrated in the fact that since 1908 more than 1,500,000 Ford cars have been built on the unchanged model T chassis.

For strength of material the most important factor in a motor car is the character of steel that goes into its working parts.

In the case of Ford steel, the material is first tested at its source, steel in the great rolling mills, still in billet form; must conform to very definite requirements if it is to become a part of Ford cars. That is why, nearly every day, a shipment of samples taken from each "heat" at the steel mills, arrives at the laboratory in Detroit to be analyzed by the staff of chemists and physicists.

The results determine the fate of the steel. If it meets the requirements in every degree, the rolling mills are instructed to proceed and the rolled product goes to forging plants, sheet mills and elsewhere. From each of these points the turn samples travel to the home laboratory, and careful checks are made of each bit of material furnished. Anything which fails to meet the rigid specifications is not allowed to go further.

It is by keeping high the standard of quality for Ford cars that more than 2,000,000 are today in operation.

NO LET UP IN DEMAND FOR HUDSON SUPER-SIX

There is no let-up in the demand for Hudson cars and every week sales show an increase over last week's. Harry Hunt, president of the Hudson Motor car company of New York.

"Not only is the motor in our Hudson Super-Six car the most efficient power plant ever installed by the Hudson company, but the superior radiator shutter incorporated in our Super-Six car is a wonderful example of engineering and the car is probably the most economical six-cylinder car on the market."

A few weeks ago, out on the coast, on San Francisco dealer offered prizes for an economic contest open to Hudson owners. When some remarkable records were made, "The first five cars in this contest were equipped with the shutter attachment and averaged 22.2 miles to a gallon of gasoline. The contest was held for Super-Six owners and 47 entrants averaged 17.4 miles to a gallon of gasoline. It was the San Francisco to San Francisco run, turning a distance of 166 miles. "Super-Six" was the winner with an average of 22.2 miles a gallon. This remarkable performance, however, exceeds any claims we can fairly make for normal Super-Six performance.

"In this contest the cars were checked in and out, and the gasoline tanks were sealed under the supervision of newspaper men. The trophy cup of silver, 22 inches in height, was awarded to Mr. Oliva at an informal dinner given to the 22 participants in the contest."

If your enemy is too big to whip, you should forgive him.

"Have you any late trains out here?" asked the prospective purchaser.

"Sure," replied the suburban real estate agent. "All our trains are generally late."—Philadelphia Record.

Style

Strength
Service
Smoothness
Satisfaction

—the things which enhance the pleasures and comforts of motoring, are combined in the Eight Cylinder Cadillac to an extent that is found only in a Cadillac.

The reason that so many people are willing to pay the Cadillac price when there are so many cheaper cars to be had is because they want the superior smoothness and steadiness and constancy, the superior comfort, the superior service and the superior satisfaction which only the Cadillac affords.

There are available for this territory this season a few more Cadillacs. Think it over.

$160,000 Order for Burdick Tires

One automobile manufacturer, realizing the undoubted superiority of Burdick Tires, has placed with the Burdick Tire & Rubber Co. an order for $160,000 worth of these tires, with the following comment: "Our car is the best in its class—that's why it should be equipped with the best tires in the world."

Officers and Directors

The officers and directors of the Burdick Tire & Rubber Co. are honest and efficient. They are prominent business men—men who do BIG things in a BIG way. These men have invested their money in Burdick Tire stock and are pledged to manage and direct the affairs of the Company, WITHOUT PAY, until the first dividend is PAID. And when they make money every other stockholder will make money. All stock is COMMON. No stock has been given as a bonus. Not one penny from the sale of this stock goes for promotion work. There is no outstanding debt, other than current bills. Each share of stock will earn EXACTLY the same dividend rate.

Location of the Burdick Tire & Rubber Co's Factory

The Burdick Tire & Rubber Co. will have its factory at Kedzie and 47th street, Chicago, where ground will be broken inside of 30 days. The contract calls for erection of factory and installation of machinery in 60 days. The factory will be two stories high, with 30,000 square feet of manufacturing space. Throop machinery of the latest type will be installed for building Burdick Tires, and the man who buys Burdick Tire stock now will profit by every increase.

Rubber Tire Stock Prove Gold Mine for Investors

Fabulous profits have been made by holders of rubber tire securities—fortunes have been made on an investment of a few hundred dollars. Many of these stocks—RIGHT NOW—are paying tremendous dividends. We predict a great future for Burdick Tire stock. We have every right and reason to believe and expect Burdick Tire stock will earn big dividends because this tire is an economic necessity—because it will travel from two to three times farther than any other tire now on the market—because the demand is certain to tax the full capacity of the Burdick Tire Co.'s plant—because this tire WILL dominate the market.

War Boosts Sale of Rubber Tires

The world war has destroyed millions of dollars' worth of rubber tires. Thousands of dollars' worth are in process of destruction. Manufacturers of automobiles are building more cars this year than they did in 1916. The rubber tire factories in Akron, O., will make 18,000,000 tires in 1917—about 50 per cent of the actual number required. Never in the history of the rubber business was there such a great demand for rubber tires, and as the Burdick Tire is a government-sanctioned monopoly, this Company will be flooded with orders.

A Good "War Stock"—A Great Profit Maker

Rubber Tire stocks are among the biggest dividend earners. Every well managed rubber tire industry is paying handsome dividends RIGHT NOW. This Company will do a tremendous business because the Burdick Tire is a genuine economic necessity. KEEPING BOOKS ON AUTO HELPS

Special Accounting Has Value
In That It Tends Towards Economy.

OWNER SOON FINDS WASTE

The keeping of an accurate record of all expenses chargeable to the ownership and operation of a motor car is well worth while, considering the very slight trouble which it entails. Like all special accounting, it stands in a general way toward economy, in that it enables the total expenditure for any required period of time to be calculated and compared with that of any other similar period. It also enables an owner to determine in what respects his practice is less economical than it should be, for instance, whether his tire, repair or fuel bill is inordinately large during one period than another or out of proportion to that of some other owner, who also keeps an account. Moreover, it permits an owner who changes from one car to another to determine which car is the cheaper to operate. A few pages reserved in the memorandum book that nearly every car carries in his pocket sufficient for the entry of all such expenditures with date, nature of the outlay and amount. All other expenditures can later be copied from the bill and added to the account. On the first of each month or oftener at regular intervals, the owner should be read and entered on the account. At the end of each month, the items of expense can be classified and charged to appropriate accounts, such as fuel, lubricants, repairs, garage, fixed charges, insurance, registration, etc., and such others as the character of the service requires and the total outlay for each, during the month can be made a matter of record. At the end of the year the owner will be able to tell exactly what his outlay has been for each item of maintenance and by dividing the total outlay for all purposes by the number of miles run, he can obtain the per mile cost of operation. Of course, in order to obtain an accurate record of expenditure, it is absolutely essential that no item be forgotten, but if an owner has a genuine interest in cost keeping, he will soon form the habit of "checking down" every expenditure, no matter how trivial.

THE DEADLY GRADE CROSSING

There is no more deadly menace to the safety of the motorist than the grade crossings of highways with railroads, and every car owner should "do his bit" to eliminate them. They are far more dangerous to the motor car user than to the horse driver, because the hum of the motor drowns the sound of approaching trains and because the motorist is habitually in a hurry and is prone to take chances that a horse driver would never take. There is no effective remedy for this frightful evil except to abolish the grade crossing and every automobile owner should do his utmost to secure the required legislation and the necessary public appropriations to bring about this result for great as is the present sacrifice of life and limb at crossings, it is bound to increase with the growth of motor traffic. A country-wide abolition of grade crossings is not an immediate possibility, on account of the colossal expense involved, but the widespread elimination of these death traps in cities and towns on the main arteries of motor travel is within the realm of possibility. Pending this much desired consummation, there are temporary and partial remedies that should be demanded and if this cannot be secured the services of a danger man are better than nothing. Give the installation of automatic crossing-bells offers some slight degree of protection and the posting of signs on country roads warning the motorist that he is approaching a crossing is of some protective value. The motoring public should demand the clearing away of trees and other removable objects, which tend to produce "blind crossings." If each individual motorist will do his utmost to arouse local public opinion against dangerous crossings in his particular district, the aggregate effect will be immense and will soon make itself apparent in the abolition or safeguarding of these danger spots.

The soldiers marched to the church and halted in the square outside. One wing of the edifice was undergoing repair, so there was room only for about half the regiment.

"Now, sergeant," said the colonel, "dismiss all the men who did not fall out and march the others to church—they need it most."—English Exchange.

GIVES THE HORSE FIVE YEARS MORE

Burden Bearer of Centuries
Soon a Curiosity Upon City Streets, Selberling Says.

Goodrich Company Chief Points Out
How Long Cotton and Rubber Supply Can Be Maintained.

"In five years from now a horse will be a curiosity in our cities," President F. A. Selberling, of the Goodrich Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio, said in a recent interview.

"The automobile will be with us forever," he said. "It is here because it fills an economic need. There is nothing transitory, nothing ephemeral about the growth of the great automobile industry and its companion, the tire industry."

"It is natural that America cannot always move at top speed. This country cannot always be at the peak. It must take a dip sometime, but when it does, the rubber industry will be less affected than a great many others."

Labor Chief Rubber Expense.
"Two great needs have been emphasized by the war. We have been brought to realize that our entire supply of rubber comes from outside the United States or her territories. Likewise our long staple cotton comes from other staple cotton in America, and some long staple cotton, but not enough of the latter to meet our needs."

The Goodyear company has already taken vigorous action toward protecting its supply of both crude rubber and cotton. We are cultivating rubber plantations in Sumatra and are planting in Arizona 10,000 acres of the most long staple cotton which we have our own cotton mills where our cotton is woven into the fabric that we use in our products.

These examples illustrate the long look that we are taking into the future of the rubber business. We could grow enough plantation rubber in the Philippines to supply all the needs of the United States. But this is impossible since our laws prevent the importation of goods from the Philippines to the United States. The white man can not endure the tropical climate of the rubber growing countries, and if he could the cost would be too great. The principal cost in rubber cultivation is labor expense.

Philippines Great Rubber Country.
"At present the United States consumes 150,000 tons of crude rubber yearly, on a price basis of $1,500 a ton, the United States could gain a business worth $225,000,000 yearly, by cultivating rubber in the Philippines."

"At our factory we are working out another problem that many American manufacturers are puzzling over—the housing of labor. We are encouraging our workmen to establish homes. We believe big problems are better worked out by home owners than home renters. We like to have married men in our factory. They are stable and willing to accept responsibility."

"As a practical evidence of our viewpoint we are building 1,900 homes to be sold to our workmen, who have 20 years to pay for them on the basis of rent. These are not the usual 'company houses,' but modern homes, with architectural individuality, conforming to the latest ideas of home building. Through a special insurance feature, title to the property passes to the heirs of the employee in case of his death before the home is fully paid for."

MAXWELL TEST EXCITES NOTE

Dealers Thru Country to Compete for $5,000 In Economy Tests.

TO MAKE CAR CLAIMS GOOD

One of the most gigantic economy tests in the history of the automobile is being planned by the Maxwell Motor company to substantiate its claim to the low operating up-to-date championship of the industry. Forward of 2,000 Maxwell distributors high dealers will soon carry out in every state in the union and throughout the eight provinces of Canada a public and wholesale demonstration of the Maxwell's ability to stretch its fuel into the greatest known mix of gasoline and motor oil distance.

Five thousand dollars in cash prizes are to be given away among the dealers. It is made known, together with an award of the national Maxwell economy championship cup. The cup is to be the trophy of the Maxwell dealer who attains the highest mileage to be recorded in the event, and with it he will also capture a substantial award in gold.

The public and widespread demonstration is to be known as the national Maxwell economy proof day, and the wholesale contest is to take place Wednesday, May 23.

Owners' cars are to be used exclusively, the rules providing that each dealer entering agree to arrange for the use of two Maxwell five-passenger touring cars now in owner service. These he will borrow for the day. In each car there must be, according to the rules, four full-grown passengers, the driver and three official observers. In each town and city the two cars will make the run together, each carrying its observers. Who thus will check not only their own mount but the other as well.

Results will be unofficial. It is stated, if the dealer participant fails to arrange for his observers to be either newspaper men, motor club or board of commerce representatives or well known public officials.

Two one-gallon gasoline cans are to be provided each dealer participant. These will attach to the wind-

Appeals have been coming frequently of late from Berlin foreign office for reaffirmation by the United States of the treaties of 1755, 1799 and 1823, all of which Germany has violated in this war. If these engagements had been observed by Germany,

Just two men now produce more than 2,000,000 in additional yearly output in the Willys-Overland factory with the help of four magnetic grinders, used to machine and polish push rods for Overland Big Four motors. This is a typical example of the vast economies made possible thru enormous production in the automobile industry.

At the present time these men can grind 242 push rods simultaneously on their magnetic grinders—so-called because the push rods are held in place on steel plates by magnetic force.

One man operates 120 machines. The daily output of the two men and four machines is 3,600 ground and polished push rods.

Before the installation of this equipment each push rod was laboriously ground by hand. The machining and polishing of 600 to 700 push rods was then considered a big day's work for these two men. This product, besides requiring more time, was not to be compared with the present output for finish and accuracy.

To this additional production can be added the yearly saving of thousands of dollars in push rods that had to be scrapped in the earlier days because of inaccurate grinding and machining, now reduced to a minimum because of the minute accuracy of modern equipment.

QUARTER'S OVERLAND BUSINESS $38,000,000

The Willys-Overland company reports that during January, February and March of this year it shipped 44,667 automobiles, having a retail value of approximately $28,000,000.

If this is well done the car will usually obtain sufficiently good footing to lead to its extrication. In case planks or fence rails are available in sufficient quantity, they should be arranged under the wheels and are better than two branches. Should a long stout pole be available, it can sometimes be used as follows, to pull a car out: Drive a stake securely into the ground at some distance forward of the car and fasten one end of the rope to it. Take a turn or two of the rope around one of the rear wheel hubs and get someone to hold the free end. Upon starting the wheels the rope will wind around the hub and pull the car slowly along toward the stake.

Pride of Ownership

The world judges a man by his investments—by the evidence of good sense in investing his money to bring the greatest returns. In his purchase of a Ford car your Ford owner has combined every factor of a good investment—low initial cost, small expense of upkeep, least depreciation and largest returns in service. He finds that he is getting every bit of motor car performance possible with several distinctive advantages of Ford construction.

One of the foundation stones upon which the success of the Ford car has been built is "absence of doubt." The man who buys a Ford buys a known quantity—a car that has proved itself in practically every service and under every condition where an automobile can be used, a car that he can depend on in every circumstance. Built of honest material on an honest design, sold at an honest price with the assurance of honest performance. These features combine to make the Ford "a better car at a lower price."

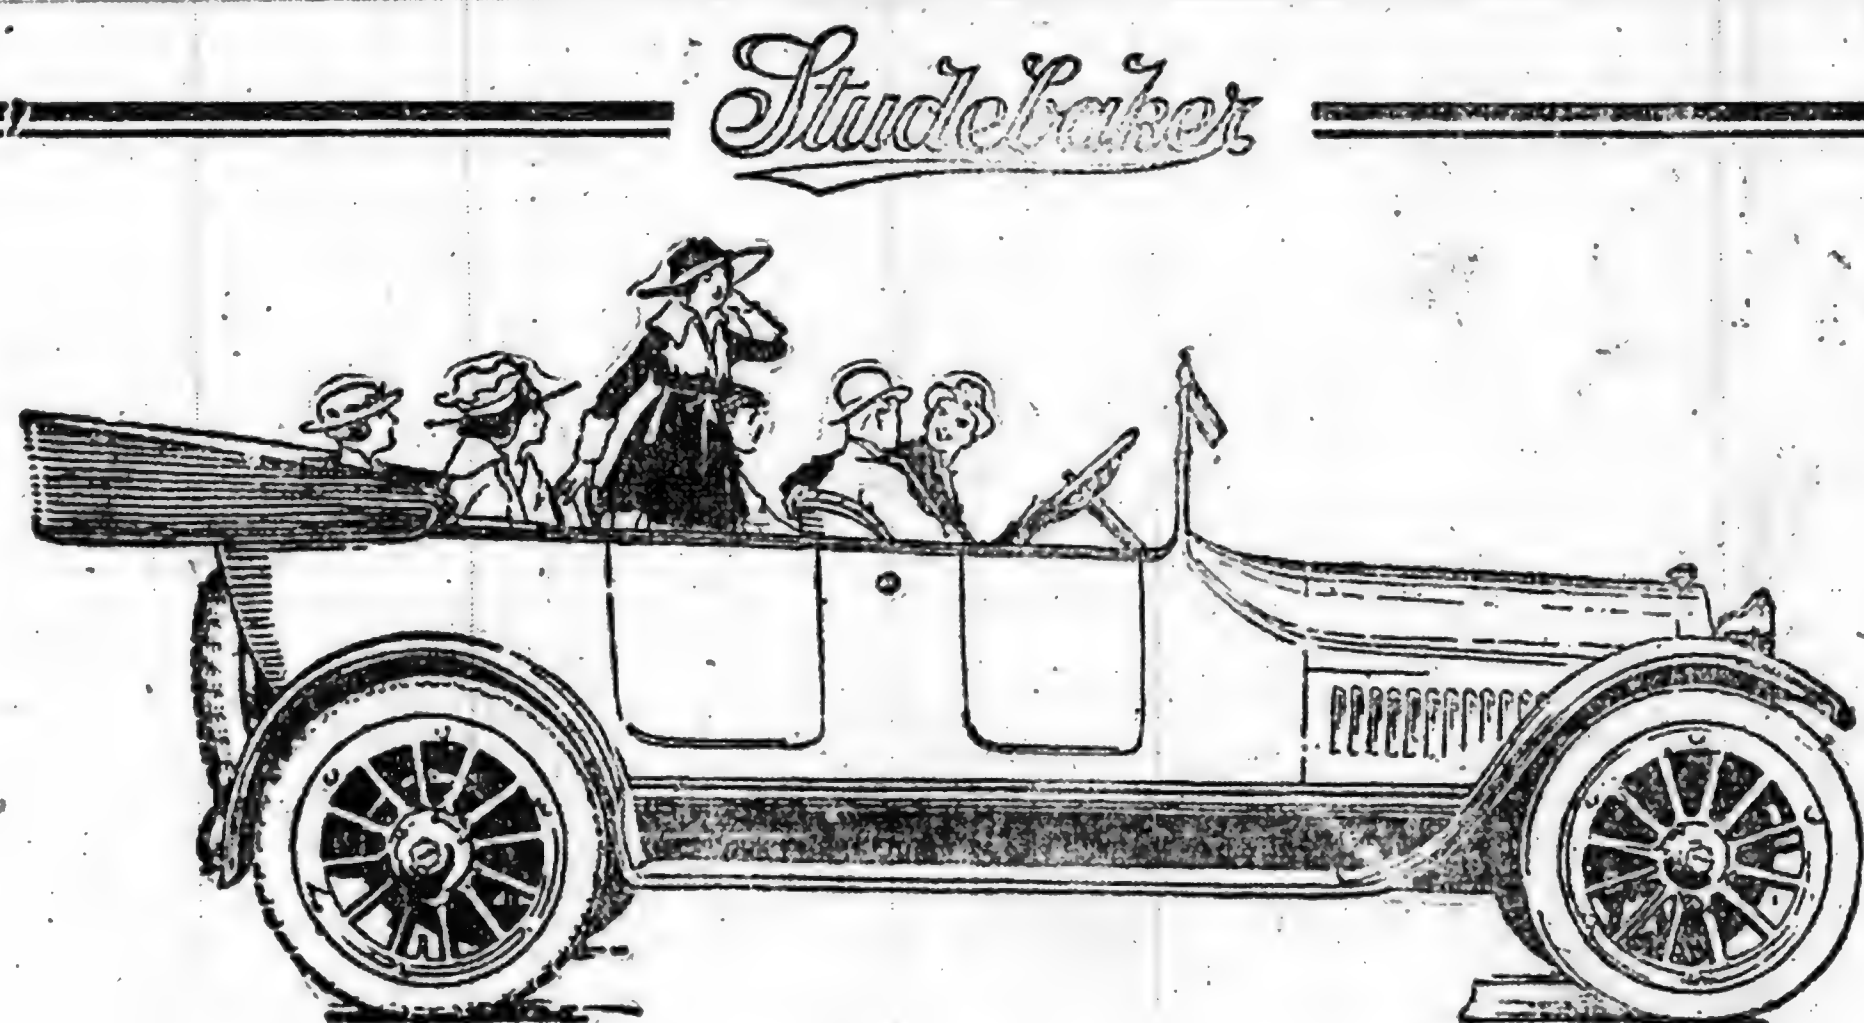

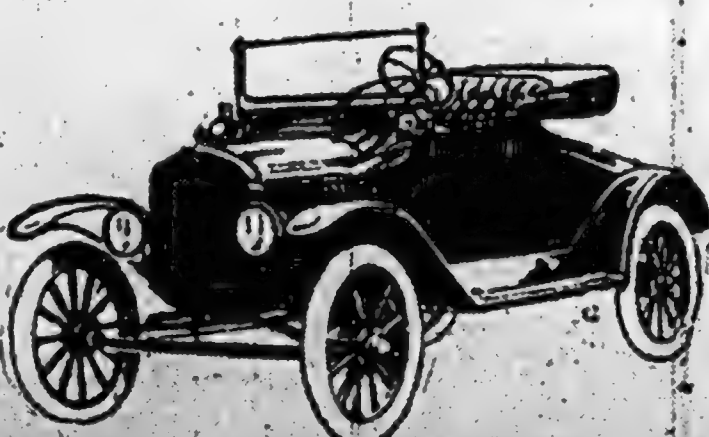

In this investment there is a real pride of ownership added to by that performance which his Ford car is giving.

The Studebaker SIX From the Standpoint of Economy

IF ECONOMY is to be your consideration from now on, especially in the purchase of your motor car, you should by all means investigate the Studebaker SIX from that standpoint. Where people know cars, at all probabilities they buy that car in greatest numbers which gives them the greatest value for their money.

Therefore, in Detroit, where 80% of all cars are made, where people know cars, the official registrations show that there are more Studebakers in use than any other car costing over $500.

Where people prove motor car value and quality by the continuous test of twelve months in the year service, they probably buy in greatest numbers that car which stands up and gives the service.

Therefore, in California, Washington, Oregon and the Rocky Mountain States, there are more Studebakers in use than any other car costing over $500.

In the far West, people prove motor car value and quality, they test it out, twelve months in the year, on the longest, hardest, hilliest drives in the United States.

The careful, keen, shrewd buyers in the great Middle Western farming states use Studebaker cars because they have found that Studebakers give consistent service on the rough country roads, day in and day out, at the least possible maintenance and repair expense.

In the metropolitan cities where style is a factor, there are thousands of Studebakers in daily use.

In ratio to power, the Studebaker SIX is most economical in gasoline consumption.

In ratio to carrying capacity, its light weight and perfect balance make it most economical in tires—Studebaker owners frequently get from 8,000 to 10,000 miles on a single set of tires.

Studied accessibility reduces inspection, adjustment and repair costs to a minimum.

Therefore, if economy is to be your watchword, buy a Studebaker.

Buy it as an investment—not as an expenditure.

If you want to sell it, or trade it in, it will bring a higher resale price in ratio to first cost, than most other cars.

The Studebaker SIX is the best work of a great manufacturing organization; it bears a great name, it carries a splendid reputation, and it is protected by a year's guarantee against defective material and workmanship.

Come in and let us show you, point by point, the quality features of this car, the features that make it one of the best automobile "buys" in the world.

FOR THE YOUNG PEOPLE

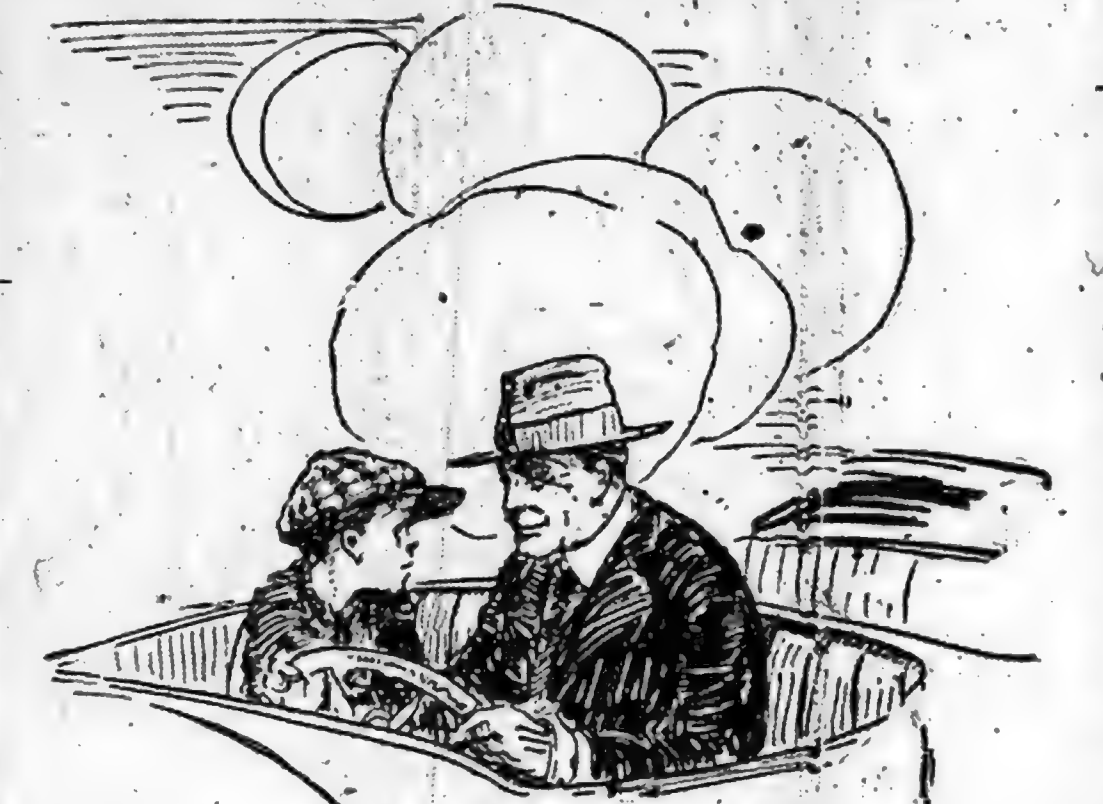

THE FAIRY FROM COUNTY CORK

It is only what I've been told and there's no need to take it to heart," Tommy O'Brien's Mother always said, after she had told a fairy story. "And even if it really did happen—which I doubt—remember it happened in County Cork, not here in America."

Tommy O'Brien thought of County Cork when, after he had been sick in the hospital for some weeks, they sent him to the country and he saw green, wooded hills and wide meadows for the first time. He believed that if there were "little people" in County Cork, there must be some here—there was so sweet and solemn and different from the crowded city.

One day, as he lay in the grass, he thought he saw a Fairy no bigger than a gnat, swinging herself on a green grass stalk. Now Fairies are useful things to have if you are little and sick and your mother is a poor widow and there are two little sisters in the family besides. So Tommy, scarcely daring to breathe, cupped his hand and scooped up the Fairy—like a person would catch a fly. After a while he peeped between his fingers and found nothing but a little green stalk of grass in his hand. But, phew! He wasn't so fooled that he let the Fairy go. He held it all about Fairies and their tricks.

He ran in the house and got his pencil box, which was the only thing

"You—You Aren't By Any Chance A Fairy, Are You Sir?" He Questioned Eagerly.

Waking Up "Sleepy-Head Cora"

LITTLE fair-haired Cora was a sleepy-head. Think of that—a pretty little girl, whose locks were the color of the morning sunshine, never wanted to arise when her mother called her!

Cora's baby sister, Marie, was always wide awake every morning at 6 o'clock. Nothing could keep her in bed.

"Oh," sighed Mother, "if Cora would only be like Marie. What can I do to make her want to get up? And so Mother worried.

Meanwhile, Cora continued to lie in bed every morning until 10 o'clock. Oh, how soft the pillow was! How cozy was her pretty flowered coverlet! How nice to lie in bed and dream, dream of daisy field and beautiful soda fountain!

"Come, Cora dear," Mother's voice would coax, "get up early this morning and have a nice long day for playing; won't you dear?"

"And Cora would answer: 'Just a few minutes more, Mamma,' and with that would turn over and drop off to sleep again.

The winter months passed quickly. "Surely," said Mother, "the pretty spring mornings will get my baby out of bed."

But no! Cora snuggled in her bed in April the same as in December. Then Mother had an idea. The spring garden was being planted. Flowers had to be selected. Mother looked over the list of flowers—sweet peas, poppies, marigolds, and all the others. Then her eye caught the name, morning glory.

"Morning glory," she exclaimed, "why, that's what my baby ought to be! I wonder if this flower could teach her a lesson. I'll plant some and see."

So she planted a row of morning glories beside the brick wall and set up poles for them to run on. And then she waited.

As the days passed and the leaves pushed their heads out of the ground, Mother's hopes rose. "I know," she thought to herself, "that these little flowers will be an example to my little Cora."

One day when Cora was sauntering about the garden, asking what was planted in the different beds, she came to the morning glories. They were about two feet high.

"What kind of vines are these?" she asked.

"They have a lovely name," replied her Mother, "a name that I would like to be able to call my little Cora—morning glory!"

"Morning glory?" repeated Cora.

"Why is it called that?"

"Well, it is like this dear," her Mother went on to say. "This vine

TO CELEBRATE MOTHER'S

"I wish this was County Cork," he sighed.

"What's the matter, sonny?" asked a kind, deep voice.

Tommy opened his wide, blue eyes and looked into the kind, red face of an elderly gentleman.

"I'm all right, sir," answered the boy, "only kind of dizzy."

"Been sick?" inquired the stranger, with a keen glance at the little fellow.

"Yes, sir," said Tommy, "but I'm almost well now. I'm out looking for a job. I'm a lot older than I look."

"Well, well," replied the stranger. "I think you ought to go home and rest now. Where do you live? I'll take you home in my car."

Tommy gave his address a little wistfully, adding: "Thank you, sir. Do you believe in the 'little people'?"

The stranger led the child to his waiting car, and placed him next to his own seat at the driving wheel.

"And who's been telling you about the 'little people'?" he asked.

"Mother has, sir," Tommy replied, leaning his head back comfortably.

"In County Cork there was a rose-bush full of Fairy folk!"

"In County Cork!" exclaimed the stranger. "Why, sure and I came from County Cork!"

Tommy stared and began feeling in his pocket. No Fairy grass stalk could he find. He stared at the strange gentleman.

"You—you aren't by any chance a Fairy, are you, sir?" he questioned eagerly.

"What, I? Do I look it, me boy?" laughed the stranger. "Now tell me, what was your mother's name before she married your father?"

"Mary McCarthy," replied Tommy. "She was a beautiful girl in County Cork, and, sure, she's beautiful yet."

"Mary McCarthy?" repeated the stranger, "Mary McCarthy?"

No more was said as the automobile rolled smoothly on and Tommy fell into a doze. They soon reached his humble home, and the big stranger carried the little boy upstairs. There sat Mrs. O'Brien and the two little girls, Mollie and Bess, all in tears.

"Sure, and I was so worried about my boy, I was about to send for the police!" cried Mrs. O'Brien. "I just came home for lunch and found the child gone, and he's been so sick!"

The stranger placed Tommy in the big arm chair, and then looked into Mrs. O'Brien's kind honest face. Tommy had said she was beautiful. Ah, well, she was in a way—in the way of a good, true woman and tender mother!

"Mary McCarthy," said the stranger, "do you remember me?"

Mrs. O'Brien looked hard into the face of the stranger.

"There's a look in your eye that reminds me of a lad I used to know in County Cork, in Ireland," replied the woman. "Can you be?"

"Francis Dennis, for sure!" cried the big man. "Now don't say I've grown fat and old. You're son took me for a Fairy."

"Francis Dennis!" exclaimed Mrs.

O'Brien, holding out her hand. "Why we were children together in old County Cork, in Munster! I never expected to see you again!"

"Well, here I am!" cried Francis. "I'm in luck, cheery tones. 'Here I am!' So quick pack up your things and come along. My car is waiting outside, and I've a fine big house in the country and a fine big farm, lacking just a housekeeper and some little ones."

Well to make a long story short, Mr. Dennis was as good as his word, and took all the O'Briens to his big farmhouse, where the children got plump and brown, and Mrs. O'Brien acted as housekeeper.

Tommy had found a real fairy.

A Secret Fact

I'd like to tell a secret fact
To mothers everywhere.
So they would just know how to act
About our clothes and hair.

We like ourselves out on the lawn
Without the lace and bows;
With just a simple romper on
And heaps of barefoot toes.

So when our mothers quite decide
To dress us up like elves—
I think we'll all just go and hide
And let them dress themselves!

Mrs. Robin's Queer Nesting Place

One morning Mary was sitting on the front porch playing with her dolls when suddenly she heard a funny little "Peep! Peep!" right over her head.

"What in the world can that be?" she asked herself and she laid aside her dolls and began listening and looking to see if she could find out what that sound was and where it came from.

It didn't take long to discover a nest, yes, a nest—a beautiful bird's nest right in among the beam that supported the vine covered roof of the porch. Of course, Mary couldn't see much of the nest, oh no, but she could see enough to make her know that it was a very nice nest and to make her wish that she could see more.

"I'm not going to play dolls any more today," she decided. "I'm just going to watch that nest and then maybe I'll see the mother bird and find out what sort of a bird lives on my porch." So she put her dolls in their cart and settled herself in a comfortable chair to watch and wait.

Before she had had time to grow tired, the mother bird came home just as Mary had expected she would and Mary could see her just as plain as plain could be. And what kind of a bird do you suppose she was? Of course, you've guessed from the name of this story—that mother bird was a beautiful robin and you may be sure Mary was glad she was living over her porch.

run his mower over the grass close to the mower, Mary heard a frightened "Peep! Peep!" right in front of the mower.

"Wait! Wait! Wait!" she called, as she ran down to the spot where the sound came from. "I think one of my robin babies is in the grass." And sure enough there it was! A tiny little robin so frightened and lonely, some it could hardly call for help. Mary picked it up tenderly and carried it out of the way of danger.

When her father came home for lunch he put the little bird in its own little nest. And what of the mother bird? She was so happy when she found her baby was back in the nest safe and sound that she chirped and sang all the day long. Mary thought she must be trying to say "Thank you!"

Mothers' Day

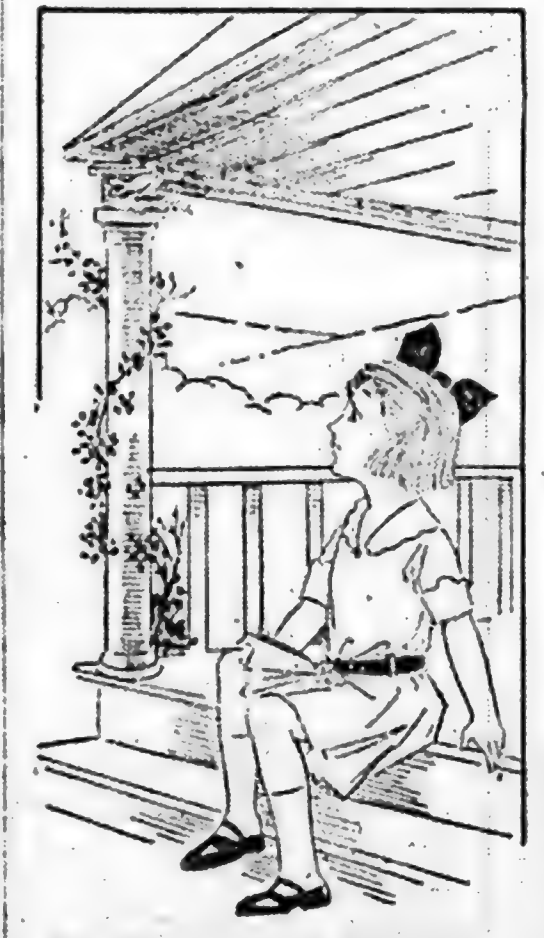

ALONG the many fine things that President Wilson has done for the United States was the issuing of the first Mothers' Day proclamation in 1914, asking that Mothers' Day be a national holiday, and that the second Sunday in May be set aside yearly for that purpose.

This official recognition of a Mothers' Day was the result of years of work, to permanently establish a day on which sons and daughters in our land should honor their mothers in the home, and so help toward the moral uplift and religion of the home, for the government, and in the humanity of the world.

But President Wilson only made the day a legal holiday, while Miss Anna Jarvis was really the founder of the movement, and worked hard and long to accomplish her end. The aim of Mothers' Day is to strengthen and deepen all family ties. It is to enable MOTHERHOOD. It is observed through some act of kindness, with a letter, gift or tribute to mother or father. The emblem is a white carnation and the slogan is in honor of "The Best Mother Who Ever Lived," the mother of your heart.

Since 1914 it has been the custom of the Governors of nearly all of the States in the Union to issue a Mothers' Day Proclamation asking citizens, churches, homes and organizations to enter into the spirit of the day, and while Mr. Colquitt, of Texas, was Governor, he made it a practice to pardon a number of prisoners on Mothers' Day.

Let us all honor the name of Miss Anna Jarvis, who had the wonderful conception of such a holiday. She has halloved the second Sunday in May for all times. Miss Jarvis lives in Philadelphia, and is the active President of the Mothers' Day Interna-

NAVY LEAGUE IN PUBLIC APPEAL

Wants People Here to Join in Work Which Will Help the Nation.

WILL OPEN HEADQUARTERS

The executive committee of the newly organized Navy League in a statement issued today sets forth the purpose of the league. The statement is a preliminary to a campaign for members to be conducted by the league. The statement follows:

"While we wait for the actual commencement of hostilities, every American should prepare to do his bit. To those who cannot answer the call to arms the Navy League offers an opportunity for patriotic work which must be done for those who are guarding us on the seas. For fourteen years the league has been advocating a navy adequate to uphold the honor of our country, to guard us, in as far as possible, from attack, and to assure victory in the event we were forced into war."

"War has been forced upon us. The question that must be foremost with every true American is, 'How can I best serve my country?' You may be one of many who, for various reasons, will be unable to give your country active service. You can be of great use to the country by joining the Navy League, and helping us carry on the work which we have begun with the authority of the president and the navy department."

"The Navy League, after consultation with officials of the navy department, has decided, in the present crisis, to undertake the following program:

"1. To aid in recruiting for the navy service.

"2. To assist in procuring enlistments in the naval reserve, recently provided by congress.

"3. To undertake to furnish needed articles of clothing, equipment, comfort and hospital stores required by the exigencies of the service, and at this time not furnished by the government."

"The most valuable service that we are unable to enlist ourselves can perform for the country at the present time is to get men enlisted in the navy. While it is important to get men for the other branches of the service, the need of the navy for enlisted men is immediate. Owing to the shortage of officers and men of the regular navy, it is a physical impossibility for the navy to recruit the men needed with the requisite speed. It is impossible for the navy department to furnish recruiting literature, posters, pamphlets, etc., fast enough. It is therefore necessary that thousands of patriotic people, both men and women, who wish to help their country at the present time, take steps to obtain men for the navy."

"No Navy Conscription."

"There is no mention made in any of the proposed selective conscription bills regarding enlisting men for the navy, consequently we are called upon to raise within the next few weeks in the neighborhood of 75,000 additional recruits."

"A citizen who considers his duty done when he has paid his taxes is a 'lacker'."

"The more we do for our country, the sooner the war will be over, and consequently those who look at their labors from a selfish viewpoint, will be rewarded by having their taxes reduced sooner."

"The Navy League particularly desires women members, although it is not necessary to be a member of the league in order to furnish needed articles for the sailors. Articles mostly needed will be knitted caps."

CLOTHING

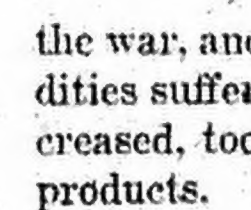

One of Country's Cheapest Commodities

In the fall of 1914, when the great European war cut off the supply of dyes, which the United States had obtained from Germany and as the supply in this country became exhausted, "clothing" suffered a justifiable advance in price.

Lately the wool supply has become inadequate and a shortage of materials resulted.

American industry solved the dye problem—not quite as well perhaps, nor as cheaply as it was taken care of, up to the present time at least, but much can be looked for in the "future development" of it.

The wool supply will be increased due to the efforts of such associations as the National Sheep and Wool Bureau and other like organizations.

The fact remains that the American public has been so thoroughly imbued with the idea sky high prices that they unconsciously include clothing with the other necessities.

As a matter of fact our suits for men and young men we sell at $15 to $30, have shown only a small increase in the past year.

A New Product—An Old Standard

The introduction of a pure milk at a low price and a decreased charge for certified milk beginning June First will be made by the Alexandria Farms Dairy. A surprising announcement in the face of rising prices but made possible through the elimination of feed and labor costs by turning our cows to pasture.

In taking these steps there will be no depreciation in the quality of our product, the original purpose of the Alexandria Farms Dairy to supply the Aurora public with the best grade of milk will be strictly adhered to, the decreased cost to consumer discountenancing the slightest attempt toward inferiority.

WALL ST. EXPECTS WHEAT TRADE HALT

Possibility That All Trading
Will Be Stopped Before Opening Monday Is Seen.

Stocks Are Heavy, St. Paul Railroad
Dropping to Lowest Point
Since 1907.

(By Broadland Wall.)
New York, May 17.—In the actual state of the market, it is expected that the wheat trade will be halted before the opening of Monday.

Wheat closed heavy, went to materially lower prices and just before the close advanced on short covering so that some net gains were shown for the day. There is no short interest of importance in the wheat market, among which St. Paul today sold lower than at any time since 1917. Credit and United States Steel displayed the greatest strength.

"UNWILLING BRIDE" ASKS SEPARATION

Esther Gooden of Sandwich Alleges John Gooden, Now Missing, Threatened Her Life.

Declares She Went Through Ceremony
Only to "Just Pretend" and Prevent Bodily Harm.

"I was an unwilling bride," is the claim of Esther Gooden of Sandwich in her bill to have her "pretended marriage" annulled.

She claims that when she was at the matrimonial altar with John Gooden on Jan. 1, 1916, that she only pretended she was getting married.
The unwilling bride tells all about it in a bill to have the marriage annulled, she has filed in the circuit court at Sycamore. Atty. D. Harvey
Gunn of Aurora is her lawyer.

Mrs. Gooden tells in her bill that she and Gooden went through a ceremony of marriage in DeKalb county, that her participation in said ceremony was not of her free will, but that John Gooden, by threats, she alleges, made her, "to do her bodily harm and even to take her life."

Refused to Live With Him.
It was unlawfully forced into said pretended marriage," Mrs. Gooden says in her bill. "After the ceremony he continued to threaten me, if I should refuse to live with him."

The unwilling bride says in her bill, "that not until September, 1916, did I get courage enough to take a stand against John Gooden and I then told him that unless he left the town in which we were living that I would at once expose him to the public. Shortly thereafter he secretly left the town and since then I have heard nothing from him."

Would Tax Everything

"A war tax on the sales of every article," is the suggestion of E. E.
Kroehler, president of the Kroehler
Manufacturing company of Naperville, has made to Congressman L. C.
Copley.

"Here is what we are up against:
There are many manufacturers who never figure their costs and are doing a good deal of harm by reason of quoting prices that cannot possibly show a profit and they are caping the war tax for the reason that they make no profit. Manufacturers do not know how to figure their costs and make a selling price to give them a profit and are obliged to pay out a large percentage of that profit as war tax and the fellow who does the most harm and is usually on the verge of a failure and isn't business man enough to realize a fair profit is the one who escapes taxation entirely, which gives him a still better chance to undersell the man who makes a living profit."

Aurora May Secure
State Jewels' Meet

The annual convention of the Illinois Jewellers' Retail association may be held in Aurora next spring. A local Jeweller said yesterday, if the co-operation of the Aurora Commercial club can be secured.

This year's convention has just closed in Chicago where over 500
Illinois Jewellers were in attendance.
Carl Vogtmann of Aurora attended the convention which was held at the Sherman hotel. He was appointed one of the members of the resolutions committee.

Mr. Vogtmann is confident that the annual convention can be arranged to be held in Aurora next spring and a number of local Jewellers may be appointed as a committee to look into the matter.

Mr. and Mrs. Vogtmann, J. M. Custer and Edward Fack of Frank &
C. Fack's were the only ones from Aurora who attended the big banquet held in the gold room of the Congress hotel Thursday night.

STOMACH PUMP FOR GEORGIA DRINKERS

(The International News Service.)
Macon, Ga., May 17.—A stomach pump has been added to the equipment of the detective department of the city of Macon with a view to aiding in the detection of violators of the "bone-dry" prohibition law.

City Detective Edward Newberry secured authority from the chief of police to purchase a stomach pump and got City Physician O. C. Gibson to instruct him in its use. He proposes to apply the stomach pump on every person arrested and whose breath has any evidence of the odor of whiskey.

"I have had many number of people ask me this morning to interpret the bone-dry prohibition law," said Detective Newberry. "I have told them that my construction of the law is that if they even smell of whiskey they are violators, and in order to make sure that my old-fashioned organ does not deceive me in the future, I have purchased a stomach pump, and I propose to use it on every person arrested and after that has been done I will apply the stomach pump.
If I find as much as a drop of whiskey I will hold them for violating the prohibition law."

When a woman says "I will" the motion is carried unanimously.

Movie Notes

Mary's Understudy.

Mary Miles Minter is training an understudy. The little film star has taken her understudy wing the duties of a tiny bit of femininity who she hopes may some day emulate her own rise to fame.

Little Madeline Headley, aged five, with big sparkling blue eyes and a wealth of tousled blond hair, is Mary's "discovery."

Some time ago Miss Minter and her mother, Mrs. Charlotte Shelby, made a trip to Los Angeles for the purpose of acquiring a number of gowns for Mary's next production. During their stay the little star, who is very fond of children, spent all the time she could with the kiddies at the hotel who were eager to meet their idol on the screen. Little Madeline was among these and Miss Minter soon singled her out as a "find" and a strong attachment grew up between the two.

The tiny blond confided to her new found friend her ambition to become a motion picture actress just like her idolized Mary. Recognizing not only the charm and beauty of this striking child, but also her unusual personality and magnetism, Mary Miles Minter decided to try to do something to make her wish come true. She wrote her director, James Kirkwood, and he replied that they needed such a child in "Annie-for-Spice" and would give her a tryout. If Miss Minter cared to bring her along. Consequently the child was taken back to Santa Barbara, and plays an important role in the latest production featuring Mary Miles Minter—"Annie-for-Spice," released thru Mutual May 14.

If the enthusiasm of the star counts for anything, followers of Miss Norma Talmadge may expect to see her finest screen impersonation in "Poppy," her forthcoming picture. "In my career before the camera I have never experienced such a fascinated interest in a character as I have felt for that pathetic little child of destiny, Poppy, the heroine of Cynthia Stockley's famous book," said Miss Talmadge.

"It has been said that the whole world has wept over the disappointment and disasters that overtook Poppy, making her life so miserable before attaining happiness thru her wonderful love. I guess that isn't so far from being literally true, if there ever was a woman who would throw fire and brimstone for the sake of a love, that woman's Poppy.

Carlisle Blackwell plays a fighting parson in "The Crimson Dove," the next World-Picture Brady-Made in which he is to participate. The clergyman, who is assigned to a lumber camp which is the toughest of the tough, fights his way to absolute control and incidentally wins the love of the girl of his heart, who is personated with irresistible charm by the lovely June Elvidge.

A feature of "The Divorce Gang," in which Alice Brady is to star in the near future, is an extremely narrow escape on the part of the heroine from a crash between a railway locomotive and an automobile. The motor car "stalls" at a railway crossing just as a passenger train is approaching at a high rate of speed, and the occupants of the auto jump for their lives just as their vehicle is tossed high in the air.

Nick Cogley spends all of his spare change being paged at the Hotel Alexandria.

Mabel Normand's wonderful feature is finished, and believe me Mickey is some child.

MANUFACTURERS PROTEST

(By Associated Press Leased Wire.)

Washington, May 12.—The general attack on the war tax bill continued today before the senate finance committee. Scores of manufacturers and representatives of other taxed interests protested against the house bill. Taxation of parcel post packages was advanced by representatives of railroads and express companies who contended it would only be fair to tax packages sent by parcel post which competes with the express companies.

The cent a pound tax and higher duty on coffee was assailed by Frank R. Seelye of Chicago, president of the National Coffee Roasters' association.

Representing interurban electric roads, Arthur W. Brady of Anderson, Ind., said the proposed taxes discriminate in favor of automobile lines having established routes competing with electric roads.

Pathe News in "THE TWO CANDIDATES" A POLITICAL SKETCH

Comedy Cartoon

Says Joe Frey:

I've found that the satisfaction of my customers to a large extent is dependent on the quality of the products I serve. With them it's not a case of "quantity," but "what" and "how" I serve it. However, at that I certainly give a full measure of value.

Great guns! I'd far better give them a superior article, because I see every day what happens to the man who sells a mediocre product.

That's why my Sea Food Cafe is a distinguished service when compared to that offered the public elsewhere. Shrimp, clams, crabs, lobsters and other salt water foods, fresh and palatable, put up for home use or prepared hot for serving at my place, sure are as savory as any king could wish to eat.

If you've ever patronized my place you know and every good man knows it's a rare treat to step up with a ready appetite and satisfy it with a dish of my chef's preparation. You'll understand then what I mean when I say
